BUILDING STRONGER FLOOD WALL—a bulldozer levels top of rock and dirt built around subdivision in Arnold, Mo. The sandbag wall that had been built was holding back flood waters. Residents hopefully watch the work. Arnold is situated along the Meramec River.

Nixon Tours Flood

By BILL O'SHEA
Associated Press Writer

President Nixon makes an aerial inspection today of flooded areas in the Mississippi River valley where about 10,000 persons have been left homeless and damage estimates have climbed to more than $200 million.

Ten persons have lost their lives in the flooding along the Mississippi, Missouri and Illinois rivers and their tributaries in seven states.

In some areas the highest flood-levels in recorded history were expected to worsen after new rains last week fell on top of earlier heavy spring downpours. The Mississippi River at St. Louis reached 42.16 feet overnight and was rising. The previous record of 42 feet was set in 1785.

In Washington, Nixon declared flood-stricken parts of Illinois major disaster areas and moved to make federal aid available.

The help will consist primarily of temporary housing, unemployment assistance, low-interest loans, debris clearance and repairs to roads, bridges, dikes and levees.

Nixon was to fly over some of the flooded areas en route to a ceremony at Meridian, Miss., honoring Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss.

The crest, or highest flood level, of the Mississippi swept past Hannibal, Mo., during the night, but the saturated levees upriver at Quincy, Ill., remained in serious jeopardy, a spokesman for the U.S. Corps of Army Engineers said.

The Corps of Army Engineers at St. Louis estimated that if the river reaches its expected crest of 43.5 feet there on Saturday $136 million in damages will have been done in Missouri and Illinois alone.

"A few more inches can mean a hell of a lot when you're talking about the Mississippi," a spokesman said.

To the south, the National Weather Service reported no rain expected in Louisiana or Mississippi through Sunday but said there is a chance of showers on Monday or Tuesday.

The Arkansas River continued to fall on Thursday and the forecast called for fair weather after 12 consecutive days of rain and flooding.

The long-term effects of the flooding depend to a large extent on future rainfall. The Southern cotton crop will be dealt a severe blow if the rain does not stop before the mid-May planting season. Cotton prices are already rising.

Rain fell over much of the nation today, and a wintry chill maintained crisp temperatures in the mid-continent.

A flash-flood watch was posted for Georgia and the mountains of the Carolinas. Savannah, Ga., was soaked by more than two inches of rain through Thursday night.

Showers ranged westward into Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee and north across New England.

Cool, dry air sweeping over the Plains dropped temperatures into the 20s in sections of the Dakotas and the 30s as far south as the Texas Panhandle.

Fog covered the California coast, and a few showers dampened Oregon.

Clear skies prevailed from the California coastal ranges across the central and southern Plateau to the central and southern Rockies.

Weather

Cloudy and cold with showers likely today, tonight and tomorrow. High today near 55 with a 90 per cent chance of rain. Low tonight near 40 with a 70 per cent chance of rain. High tomorrow near 50 with a 70 per cent chance of rain. High Thursday, 61;

Magruder Quits Commerce Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—The sudden, unexplained resignation of former Nixon campaign deputy Jeb S. Magruder from the Commerce Department adds a new dimension to the Watergate scandal.

It was the first resignation of any high administration official involved in the widening wiretap affair.

In another development, The Washington Post, The New York Times and New York Daily News quoted sources as saying that Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray III destroyed documents belonging to convicted Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr. after being told by presidential aides John Ehrlichman and John W. Dean III that the documents should "never see the light of day."

Ehrlichman issued a statement through the White House press office confirming that at a June 1972 meeting in his White House office Dean gave Gray a sealed envelope containing "some of the contents of Hunt's safe."

"Mr. Gray was told by Mr. Dean that the contents were sensitive materials not in any way related to the Watergate case," said the statement. "I was present but neither then nor at any other time did I give Mr. Gray any request, suggestion or instruction regarding what should be done with the contents."

Dean and Gray could not be reached for comment.

Magruder reportedly had been both an accuser and an accused in the case. He left his $36,000-a-year job as Commerce Department director of policy development without formal notice. His lawyer, James J. Bierbower, was asked late Thursday night for an explanation, and said flatly, "There will be none."

Recent news reports have quoted Magruder as telling federal prosecutors that Mitchell and Dean, the White House counsel, approved and helped plan last summer's wiretapping of Democratic offices. Magruder also reportedly said the pair later arranged payoffs to silence the defendants in the case.

Dean has said publicly he won't be a scapegoat and has vowed privately to implicate others. News reports say Magruder broke down only after Dean made accusations of his own to prosecutors.

In other Watergate developments: —The Washington Post, quoting reliable sources, said that Dean told President Nixon on March 20 that "to save the presidency" Dean and Nixon's two top aides—H.R. Haldeman and Ehrlichman—would have to disclose all they knew about Watergate and face the possible consequence of going to jail. The Post said Dean told federal prosecutors all he knew on April 6 but Haldeman and Ehrlichman apparently balked.

Various news reports have said Nixon has asked, or is about to ask, Secretary of State William P. Rogers, former Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, NATO Ambassador Donald Rumsfeld or former White House lobbyist Bryce Harlow. Harlow says he hasn't been asked. Laird says he isn't available. Sources close to Rogers say he hasn't been asked, either. Rumsfeld couldn't be reached.

—A lawyer representing two presidential aides in the Watergate scandal shuttled Thursday from the White House to the office of federal prosecutor Silbert.

The lawyer, John J. Wilson, has met twice with Nixon himself. Thursday he had first talked to his clients, Haldeman and Ehrlichman, and then visited Silbert's office for roughly half an hour.

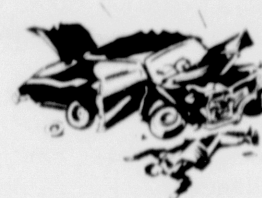

He said they discussed the Watergate affair, and that Haldeman and Ehrlichman would appear voluntarily before the grand jury if asked.

—Others who appeared in Silbert's office during the day were Powell Moore, a former spokesman for the Nixon campaign, and Hugh Sloan, the former treasurer.

Bicycle Rider Killed By Car On Route 56

A 16-year-old Route 4 youth died in University Hospital, Columbus, 5:30 p.m. Thursday, about two hours after he was hit by a car while riding his bicycle across Route 56.

The boy, Timothy Paul Kellstadt, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kellstadt, died of severe internal injuries, a broken neck and skull fracture according to a hospital spokesman.

FIRST day issue of Commemorative Stamps can be obtained at the Circleville Post Office during the week of April 30. Souvenir First Day Of Issue Cacheted Envelopes bearing a strip of 10 new stamps and a philatelic postmark "CIRCLEVILLE OHIO" may be purchased at the service windows at the Post Office.

The issuance of the new stamps and the philatelic postmark "CIRCLEVILLE OHIO" is an activity of "Postal Week."

THE ultimate in double parking occurred on North Court Street today. A northbound motorist stopped his car in the center lane of the street near the middle of the block between Main and Pinkney and ran into the drugstore.

He did have the presence of mind to leave his blinker lights on. A companion in the car waited calmly and it was only after the driver had been gone for more than five minutes that he moved over to the driver's side and pulled into a parking place along the curb. Eventually the driver completed his business in the drug store, returned to the car and drove off.

Time Bomb Hits Barracks In Ireland

BELFAST (AP)—A time bomb planted in a car blew up a British army barracks in Armagh today, wrecking five cars and slightly injuring several persons.

The bomb presumably was the work of the Irish Republican Army, but neither the IRA nor the British army had any immediate comment about this.

An army spokesman said the bomb went off without warning in a car parked outside a cookhouse. Five cars of army civilian employees were wrecked and 20 army vehicles slightly damaged, the spokesman said.

"A number of persons suffered minor injuries," he added.

The bomb had been placed inside the car of a member of the Ulster Defense Regiment, the Protestant militia. The army said the man was unaware his car had been booby trapped.

Earlier today two men put a bomb on the counter of a candy store in Newry and gave the customers 20 minutes to get out. The bomb went off, setting the store ablaze, but no one was hurt.

Viet Reds Dampen Report Of Talks By Kissinger, Tho

PARIS (AP)—The North Vietnamese Embassy threw cold water today on U.S. talk of a meeting between Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho, saying it knew nothing about such a meeting to discuss enforcement of the Vietnamese ceasefire.

The embassy issued a statement saying news about such a meeting had been issued unilaterally by the United States.

The North Vietnamese statement was issued as William Sullivan, U.S. deputy assistant secretary of state, and Nguyen Co Thach, Hanoi's deputy foreign minister, began talks on ways to carry out the cease-fire agreement.

Daylight Time Arrives Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Daylight Saving Time goes into effect at 2 a.m. Sunday. Those who remember will set their clocks ahead one hour.

The conversion applies throughout or in parts of 48 states, with Hawaii and Arizona the last complete holdouts. In Indiana and Michigan, on the border between Central and Eastern time, the situation varies among different counties.

Shaul Continues Commerce Housecleaning

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Commerce Director Dennis Shaul, buoyed by a vote of confidence from Gov. John Gilligan, Thursday forced the resignation of one aide, fired another and transferred a third.

Shaul said all were involved in questionable conduct concerning the issuing of real estate brokers' and salesmen's licenses. The real estate operation comes under Shaul's jurisdiction.

Shaul said he forced the resignation of J. David Maffeo, assistant secretary to the three-member Real Estate Commission. Maffeo, Shaul said, would have been fired if he had insisted on staying.

Maffeo earlier told Shaul and newsmen that he gave "special" exams to his wife, Betty, and his father, Joseph. He said he was in the next room when they took the written exams.

The private examinations have been abused, Shaul said, under previous administrations. He said they were primarily aimed at the handicapped and blind, but in reality were being given to "almost anybody who came in and said he could not make the regularly-scheduled examination."

Shaul said he had fired Christian Redkey, chief of the investigative section of the Real Estate Division, which is charged with administering the examinations.

He also announced the transfer of Joseph Coyner, chief of testing, but said he had not yet decided where he would be transferred to.

Another Shaul aide, Alexander Martin Jr., counsel to the commission's executive secretary, was transferred from the Real Estate Division to the enforcement section of the Securities Division. It was described as a "lateral transfer."

Shaul, in an afternoon news conference, announced the promotion of Joseph Forch and Veronica Dever to fill the gap created by the resignation, firing and transfer.

Forch will become assistant secretary to the commission and take over the duties of chief of investigation. Miss Dever will become superintendent of enforcement. She had previously been an assistant superintendent.

Shaul said the probe into the procedures surrounding licensing of politically influential persons crossed party lines. He noted that Maffeo, Redkey and former commission secretary Vernon B. McMillen were all Democrats.

McMillen was fired by Shaul several days ago when it became public knowledge that former Gov. James Rhodes received a broker's license four days before leaving office during a 45 minute "oral examination" given to him in the governor's office.

Customarily, McMillen told Shaul in a public hearing, the written broker's exam lasts as long as six hours. He said the test for a salesman's license can last up to three hours and 30 minutes. All regularly-scheduled tests are given in the presence of monitors.

Shaul earlier in the day opened his files of the 164 people who took special examinations since the Gilligan administration went into office.

Among the folders Shaul put on a conference room desk was that of Gerald Wedren, his immediate predecessor in the post. The file showed that Wedren, also a Gilligan appointee, took a broker's exam last November, passing it by a seven-point margin.

Shaul said an investigative commission, which Gilligan said Wednesday he would appoint, would look into the circumstances surrounding Wedren's testing as well as that of Rhodes, some of his key aides, and others that may have taken special tests before or after Gilligan took office.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices plummeted today and analysts attributed the slump to investor concern over inflation and rising interest rates.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had fallen 8.58 points to 929.18 at 11:30 a.m. Declines held a 3-2 edge over advances in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market had advanced Thursday and the Dow rose more than 7 points after Washington announced President Nixon would meet with his top economic advisers over the weekend. Brokers said the rally evaporated after government figures indicated the meeting was not expected to produce any concrete results.

Mass Transit Backers Lose Ohio Round

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A recommendation to change the Ohio Constitution to authorize use of earmarked highway funds for other forms of transportation — namely mass transit — has hit another snag in the Ohio Constitutional Revision Commission.

After a three hour session Thursday that produced no agreement, the commission voted 11-6 to send it back to its Committee on Taxation which studied it several months.

The powerful highway lobby is fighting the change with assertions that revenues derived from highway use taxes are now not sufficient for highways and will not be in the future. Two of their spokesmen testified before the commission at Thursday's meeting.

Members are studying a proposal to recommend to the legislature that an amendment be placed before the voters to allow use of highway tax revenues for other purposes upon two-thirds approval of the legislature.

James W. Shocknessy, chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission and a member of the commission, offered an amendment that would have reduced the legislative margin for fund shifts from two-thirds to a simple majority. After debate, his amendment failed 9-10.

Another unsuccessful amendment would have changed the proposal to recommend to the legislature that the entire constitutional sections containing the restriction be repealed. It lost 8-11.

Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, a member of the Committee on Taxation, said he was concerned about "the deep division" among members over what to do, and moved that the proposal be returned to committee. His motion carried 11-6.

Commission Chairman Richard Carter of Fostoria asked the committee to have new proposals ready for the next meeting when "it will be made the first order of business."

Transportation problems in Ohio's big cities has put pressure on state lawmakers to tap the big highway fund for mass transit, taking away the exclusive access which the highway interests have enjoyed since 1948.

Waste Reported In NATO Setup

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The United States and its allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are wasting more than a billion dollars a year by competing with each other in arms manufactures and by not unifying their armed forces, one member of the alliance says.

Officials at NATO headquarters who reported it refused to say which one of the 15 members made the estimate.

They said a prime example of waste is the competition in antitank weapons. The United States, Britain and France all are trying to sell similar models to the other nations.

Bottomless Bars Target Of Police

INKSTER, Mich. (AP) — Police have made their first move to crack down on the bottomless go-go bars which Mayor Edward Bivins Jr. says are giving Inkster a reputation as "Sin City."

Three bars in this Detroit suburb have been offering bottomless go-go dancing for about a month, but it wasn't until Thursday that warrants were issued against 12 of the performers.

The women were charged with disorderly conduct under a section of the city's ordinance dealing with persons who "engage in indecent, immoral or obscene conduct in any public or private place."

Private Ownership Of Gold Supported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since 1934, U.S. citizens have been forbidden by law to own or trade in gold as an investment. For all that time varying numbers of them have been trying to have the ban repealed.

Now, in the wake of two devaluations of the dollar, opponents of the gold-ownership ban may be closer than ever to achieving their goal. But the odds

Red Cross Discusses Disasters

The current serious disasters in many parts of the country were a topic of discussion at the Wednesday evening meeting of the Red Cross Board of Directors.

A letter from Frank Stanton, newly appointed National Red Cross Chairman was reviewed. Stanton expressed concern regarding the ominous threat to millions of Americans due to the continuing, unprecedented disasters and Red Cross's ability to meet the emergency needs.

Since January 13, 1973, over 11,000 families have received assistance following floods, tornadoes and snow storms, with an expenditure of more than $1,500,000. At present, no quota campaign is planned but one may become necessary if severe disasters continue.

Mel Ehrlick, chairman of Water Safety, outlined plans for the summer swimming program. Classes will be conducted at Circleville, Ashville and Gold Cliff Pools and at Clark's Lake and Deercreek Reservoir. Complete schedules and dates for registration will be announced soon. Phil Pfeleger, Blood Program Chairman, stated that the Blood donation record now stands at 95.3 per cent of quota for the year and it will be necessary to work for better participation at the May 17 visit to insure total coverage for all residents.

The annual meeting of the Pickaway County Chapter is scheduled for May 24 at 6:30 p.m. at Pickaway Arms. David Snow, director of Disaster Programs in the Columbus Division of Red Cross, will be the guest speaker. All Pickaway County residents who contributed to Red Cross through Pickaway County Community Fund are members of the chapter and are invited to attend this meeting.

Red Forces Hold Position

SAIGON (AP) — Forces fighting the government of President Lon Nol remained poised across the Mekong River as close as two miles from the center of Cambodia's capital today.

Military sources put their number at 5,000 and said they control about 30 miles of territory on the river's eastern bank facing Phnom Penh.

U. S. jets bombed the enemy positions Thursday as people in Phnom Penh watched from a riverside mall.

The Cambodian government said the enemy troops had seized outlying river villages of Prek Luong and Mat Krasas Khnouh but that fighting continued at Arei Ksath, two miles from Phnom Penh's center.

Action also was reported Thursday to the west and southwest of the capital.

In South Vietnam, the initial exchange of Vietnamese civilian prisoners was postponed from today until Saturday.

Sources close to the four-nation International Commission of Control and Supervision said in Saigon the Indonesian delegation postponed the exchange because it was not satisfied with the security arrangements for the trip to the site at Loc Ninh, the Viet Cong headquarters 75 miles north of Saigon.

Indonesia's chief delegate is the current chairman of the commission. Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon command, said the postponement did not involve any dispute with the Viet Cong.

still appear to be against any permission in the near future for private individuals in this country to operate freely in the gold market.

Legislation to formalize the second dollar devaluation carried out during President Nixon's administration gave the gold-ownership forces a chance to press their cause. Before the Senate passed the devaluation bill, they succeeded in attaching an amendment repealing the gold-ownership ban as of Dec. 31, 1973.

The legislation is not as far along in the House, where the Banking Committee still has to pass on it. A subcommittee has approved a provision repealing the prohibition—but effective only when the president makes a finding that the international monetary situation has been stabilized enough to make such a move advisable.

Unless this provision is changed by the full committee or the entire House to conform with the Senate language, it will be up to a conference committee—and ultimately the two chambers—to agree on the terms that finally become effective.

Both Nixon's administration and the autonomous Federal Reserve Board contend that, while there no longer is any long-range justification for maintaining the rigid prohibition on gold ownership, a change now could hamper forthcoming international discussions aimed at stabilizing the world monetary system and set up another speculative assault against the dollar.

Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill., who tried unsuccessfully to persuade the House Banking subcommittee to adopt the language of the Senate amendment, and Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, author of the amendment, have argued that the Treasury's own announced policy of diminishing the importance of gold in the world monetary system is an argument for permitting private ownership.

Judges, Mayor Set Observance Of "Law Day, USA" On Tuesday

Law Day USA has been proclaimed for Circleville and Pickaway County Tuesday.

Issuing the proclamation jointly are Judge Sterling Lamb, of the Circleville Municipal Court; Judge Guy Cline of the Probate and Juvenile Division of Common Pleas Court; Judge William Ammer, of the Court of Common Pleas; and Frank Barnhill, mayor of Circleville.

They call upon all citizens, organizations, schools and churches to recognize the special day and join in the observance.

This is the 16th annual nationwide observance of Law Day USA, a time for citizens of this area and the entire country to reflect on the meaning of our Law and Courts to a democratic society. The date has been set by the U.S. Congress and President Nixon as a special day of celebration by the American people "in appreciation of their liberties."

The proclamation continues: "Our country has prospered for nearly 200

Students Hold U.N. Session; Find New Roles Challenging

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — "This is probably the best experience in role-playing I'll ever have. After all, I'm a card-carrying Zionist," said 19-year-old Paula Tobenfeld.

Paula is a freshman at Kent State University who ardently supports the cause of Israel. This week, she's a Soviet delegate attacking Israel at an allstudent simulated session of the United Nations.

"For my speech in the Security Council, it was suggested I compare Zionism to Nazism, but I wouldn't go that far," said Paula, who belongs to Masada, a Zionist youth movement.

Paula, who would like to be a diplomat, said: "The most important thing a country or a person can do is to understand what the other fellow is thinking. I don't agree with many policies of the Soviet Union, but this way I can understand why they are doing what they do. I think that is what the U.N. is all about.

More than 1,000 young Americans from 130 colleges and universities have gathered in New York to stage mock debates at the annual National Model United Nations. They meet with U.N. diplomats and officials at foreign missions or U.N. headquarters and hold their simulated sessions at a midtown Manhattan hotel.

Policies of countries are followed faithfully, but "poetic license" and more direct language is permitted than heard at the real United Nations, Security Council President Robert Burstein, 21, of the New York Law College, said.

Tom Chelton, 21, of Indiana State College, Terre Haute, heads the U.S. General Assembly delegation. He said the U.S. role is one of the most challenging of all.

It means "representing the wealthiest nation in the world and at the same time being for peace and security, avoiding alienation of Third World countries, gaining support of African states and achieving rapprochement of the Soviet Union," he said.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The rain and cloudiness in Ohio Friday was part of a storm system that moved out of Mississippi and into the Carolinas during the night.
At dawn Friday, rain fell over all but the extreme northwestern counties. Measurable rain was confined to the Chesapeake and Marietta areas along the Ohio River. Both areas reported less than a half inch.
Rain from the storm will persist over the eastern counties Friday night, while the western section will have scattered showers. On Saturday rain is expected to continue only in the eastern counties.
Colder air will push into Ohio as the storm moves up the East Coast. Lows Friday night will be from the mid 30s to the 40s. Highs on Saturday will be from 45 to 55.
Meanwhile, the northeast and north winds continue along the Lake Erie shoreline, causing more erosion and localized flooding.
The northeast winds were reported from 15 to 25 knots east of Lorain, raising the water levels in the western end of the lake. West of Lorain, winds were also ranging from 15 to 25 knots.
The winds were expected to increase Friday and shift more to the northwest Friday night.

Antioch Strike Talks Scheduled For Saturday

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP)—Student strike leaders at Antioch College will meet with the board of trustees' executive committee Saturday to discuss their demand that the current level of financial aid continue until they graduate.
Meanwhile, all classes and administrative activities at this private liberal arts college remain halted by the strike that began a week ago today.
However, a college official said some classes were being held on lawns, in restaurants and at the homes of faculty members.
Students want a written contract to insure that all students currently enrolled and receiving financial aid will continue to receive the help the remainder of their college careers.

Paulding Man Killed

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—Israel Garcia, 27, of near Paulding, was killed Thursday night when his car sideswiped another, went out of control and hit a tree on Ohio 111 south of Defiance.

Watergate Shadow Darkens Job Vacancies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate scandal, its impact rippling through vast reaches of the government, is cited by officials as one reason for the White House's inability to fill nearly 50 top-level federal jobs.
Sources contacted in an Associated Press survey also reported instances of paperwork piling up and employee morale sagging because of Watergate, because of President Nixon's second-term reorganization plan, or the lame-duck aspect of his administration.
White House spokesmen reject suggestions that Watergate is to blame for the lag in rounding out Nixon's second-term team or that it has slowed the bureaucratic processes.
"The processes of government are going on ... the work of government is being done," said White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Seek Kansas City Escapee For $93,000 Bank Robbery

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The FBI and local police said they are searching for Earl Edwin Austin, 31, an escapee from the Jackson County Jail in Kansas City, in connection with the $93,000 holdup of a bank in suburban Whitehall Thursday.
Whitehall police said Austin, also wanted for a March 15 robbery in Dayton, was believed to be in the company here of three other men sought for bank robberies in New Orleans; Tulsa, Okla., and Iowa.
The others are Gary Williams, 25, Kenneth Greathouse, 26, and Jim

Crime Grants For 17 Ohio Areas Awarded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Seventeen grants totaling more than $368,000 under the federal Omnibus Crime Control Act were announced Thursday by Gov. John J. Gilligan.
The largest single grant of $151,000 will be used by the Ohio Youth Commission for job training and employment programs for young offenders.
The grants are:
—$45,378 to Paulding County for a communications system.
—$34,200 to Scioto County for renovation of detention facilities.
—$23,625 for design of a four-county juvenile detention center in Licking County.
—$23,256 to the city of Massillon for court and police recordkeeping systems.
—$20,406 to the city of Warren for photo identification equipment for the police department.
—$18,375 to the city of New Philadelphia for renovation of court facilities.
—$12,530 to Delaware County for juvenile probation and counseling services.
—$11,250 to Athens County to establish a public defender's office.
—$5,329 to Jackson County to purchase records-keeping equipment for county courts.
—$4,790 to Fulton County to provide a separate juvenile facility at the county jail.
—$4,338 to city of Elyria for audio-visual equipment for municipal court.
—$4,000 to Clinton County for court records-keeping system.
—$3,000 to Morgan County for law enforcement communications equipment.
—$2,755 to Bremen Village in Fairfield County for communications equipment.
—$1,875 to city of Kenton for records-keeping equipment.
—$993 to Corning Village in Perry County for communications equipment.

But other sources report a near-paralysis has set in at some policy-making levels in the 10 days since Nixon announced he had launched a personal investigation of the Watergate case after major but still undisclosed developments came to his attention.
The AP survey stretching into widespread sections of the federal establishment also found:
—A White House breakdown shows 26 sub-Cabinet posts remain unfilled three months after Nixon began his second term and launched his reorganization plan. In the upper levels of some departments, the vacancy rate exceeds 25 per cent.
—Ambassadors are yet to be named for 23 countries, a vacancy rate of 18 per cent in these top diplomatic posts.
—Latest statistics indicate more than 400 vacancies in lower-and middle-level "Schedule C" government jobs, meaning that about 30 per cent of these jobs, filled by political appointment, are empty.

—Reports mandated by the President or Congress are long overdue in some cases. At the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, one source familiar with the lagging bureaucratic pace said "people are waiting for new bosses to get new directions."
—Low morale is cited virtually everywhere in government. "You'd be surprised how Watergate has affected morale," said an Agriculture Department source. "The trauma has really set in," added a Social Security Administration source.
—At the White House, some staffers have noted a sudden slowing in their usually hectic work pace. One Executive Office Building secretary said that for the first time in years she's been able to go home before dark because "nothing is coming in from the departments."

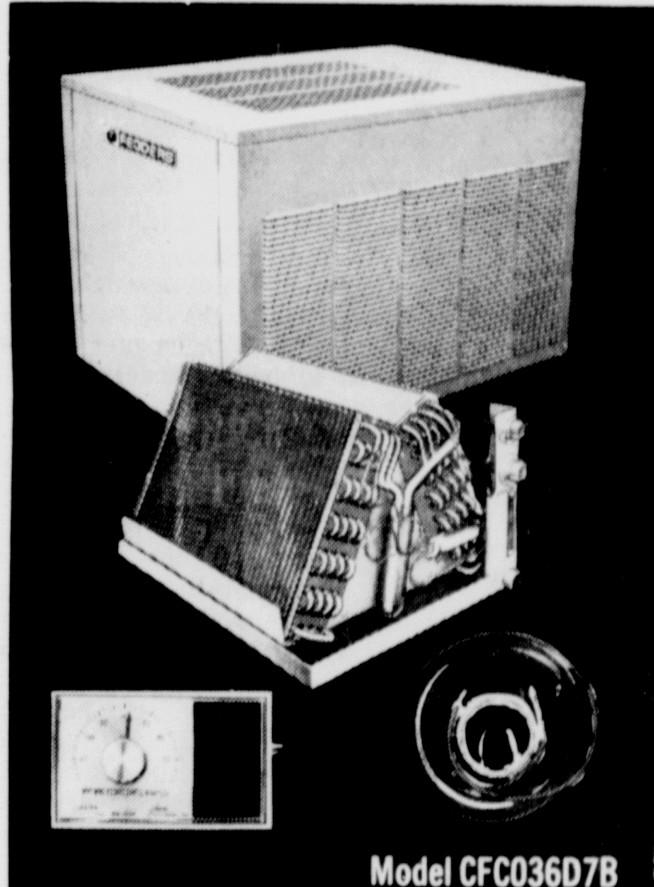

The President's own work pace has increased, however.
He's been spending "a great deal of time" on the Watergate matter, Ziegler said, "getting in very early and staying late at night."
When asked Thursday about the large number of sub-Cabinet and ambassadorial vacancies, Ziegler responded: "I don't have the answer to why that is the case"
Caspar Weinberger, Nixon's new secretary of health, education and welfare, cited another reason in a recent conversation with newsmen. The biggest problem, he said, is that the wives of potential government executives don't want to uproot their families and move to Washington.
But another administration official agreed "there is a certain amount of truth" to suggestions that the Watergate scandal has made some people reluctant to join the administration.

The White House compilation shows that 12.7 per cent of the 205 positions it ranks as "sub-Cabinet" are currently vacant. But at some departments, more than one-fourth of these positions are empty.

Cincy Skyscraper Plans Abandoned

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Plans for a $40-$50 million skyscraper proposed for downtown Cincinnati appear to be abandoned.
The Cincinnati Enquirer reported today there was only an outside chance the building would be built.
George C. Eyrich, attorney for Wiggin's Restaurant, said Unit, Inc., which was planning the structure, had failed to renew its option on property adjoining Wiggins.
The 50-story, quarter-block project was to be built at the site of the Albee Theater.

Peace Corps Revival

Few outfits have had as many ups and downs as the Peace Corps, but the regard in which it is held appears to be ascending again. Officials of the volunteer organization say requests for members to work abroad are greater than can be filled.

That is a dramatic reversal of the situation not long ago when Peace Corps members were asked to leave by their hosts and entire missions were closed out.

One of the reasons mentioned for the improved acceptance and performance of Peace Corpsmen is that volunteers are no longer chosen for their youthful exuberance, but are selected now on the basis of their competence in the skills required. But they are not less dedicated. They are still paid only $75 a month, which is not exactly the kind of inducement most workers are seeking.

It is significant also that the Peace Corps is not among those assistance agencies the administration is curtailing or eliminating because they failed to live up to expectations. Under proper direction and planning the Peace Corps does have a future in providing the kind of person-to-person contact and teaching in practical skills so badly needed.

Who Can Be An M. D.?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

As a columnist who draws his share of the mail, I have noticed that two particular topics provoke a particularly heavy correspondence. One is education; the other is medicine. Or perhaps it is only one topic, for it is medical education that sends people to their typewriters and inkwells.

Not too long ago I wrote a column about the difficulty of getting into American medical schools. Albert Schrager, who runs the Alliance for Franco-American Graduate Studies, Inc., at 527 Madison Avenue in New York City, had been complaining that, out of 37,000 applicants, only 13,570 managed to gain acceptance to U.S. medical schools in 1972. In despair, a few hundred Americans with a driving desire to become physicians seek to go abroad each year for medical training.

Mr. Schrager is troubled by the fact that students have had a bad dropout record in foreign universities, owing mainly to language troubles and general cultural shock. One mission of his organization is to see to it that students entering medical schools in France and Italy can meet the language requirements before embarking on their educations. Mr. Schrager, in conversation, was bitter over the inability of Americans to obtain information about switching to U.S. schools after two years of academic work abroad. He blamed the U.S. medical organizations, including the American Medical Association, for cultivating attitudes that limit entry to a profession which, in the light of the fees charged, can hardly be said to be overcrowded.

The column about Mr. Schrager touched some very sensitive nerves. I am still forwarding letters to him from students who have, as they insist, "all the standard requirements for medical school except for grade-point average." Beyond this there are the letters from doctors. Some are angry with me for saying there is a shortage of doctors in the U.S. Others can't see how a "libertarian," which I most certainly am, can ask physicians to get behind a movement to enlist government in a crusade to start more medical schools. (My answer to this is that free-market theory doesn't apply to a field in which state licensing denies the principle of free entry.)

Other correspondents, including Marvin Edwards, the editor of Private Practice: Journal of the Congress of County Medical Societies, admit that it is tragic that there are not enough facilities to train more prospective doctors (Mr. Edwards says "it is ridiculous to have to turn away B students, even some A students, at times"). But these correspondents absolve the American Medical Association.

Dr. Lee Sataline, who teaches clinical medicine at the University of Connecticut, says "the Association of American Medical Colleges is perhaps more at fault in this scandalous mess than the AMA." Mr. Edwards, who denies that it is "part of the AMA's function to build medical schools," says the organization "has been very generous in providing student scholarships and in encouraging the profession...to contribute to the medical schools." And the AMA's Robert Root makes the "little known point" that, immediately after World War II, "the AMA suggested continuation of the wartime acceleration program of training doctors." If this had happened, we would have had 55,000 more doctors now. Mr. Root adds that the "basic problem" today "is one of distribution and over-specialization and not necessarily production of sheer numbers."

I gather from the spate of mail that I may have wronged the American Medical Association, but that a problem nonetheless does exist. If there is "over-specialization," it means we need more general practitioners, particularly in ghetto and rural areas.

As for those medical students who go abroad for their education and then fail to pass the necessary qualifying examination after returning home, Dr. Sataline has some poignant words. Talking with students at Bologna University in Italy, Dr. Sataline noted their "resentment and frustration" with authorities in the U.S. who, so they felt, had "overlooked their ability or motivation" and had "forsaken them as second-class citizens and students." Since the Bologna courses "are basically didactic and heavily laden with theory," there is a "lack of correlation of the material stressed in Italian as compared to the American texts."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, April 27, the 117th day of 1973. There are 248 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1941, Athens fell to German invaders after 180 days of heroic Greek resistance in World War II.

On this date:

In 1521, the Portuguese navigator, Ferdinand Magellan, was killed by natives in the Philippines.

In 1822, the 18th American president, Ulysses S. Grant, was born in Point Pleasant, Ohio.

In 1906, the United States Steel Corp. broke ground along Lake Michigan for construction of a new city — Gary, Ind. In 1945, in World War II, American and Soviet troops met at the Elbe River, cutting Germany in two.

In 1960, Syngman Rhee resigned as president of South Korea.

In 1971, South Korea's President Chung Hee Park won a third term in a national election.

Ten years ago: Special U.S. envoy W. Averell Harriman was in Moscow to seek Soviet aid in keeping peace in Laos, where pro-Communist forces were on an offensive.

Five years ago: Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin, the first man to fly in space, was killed in the crash of a training plane.

One year ago: The U.S. Apollo 16 spacecraft and its three astronauts landed in the Pacific after a journey to the moon.

Today's birthdays: Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board is 60.

Thought for today: A man who says he is willing to meet you halfway is usually a poor judge of distance — anonymous.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I wasn't going to say anything about an incident that happened about a year ago until I read an article in The Herald this week.

I had a building listed for sale on Corwin Street in Circleville and the Mental Retardation executive director called me and wanted to see it to see if it would be suitable for a workshop.

After viewing the building and grounds he and his assistant decided it would be wonderful for their work. We called the department heads from Columbus to view the building and called the city health inspector and the city fire chief. All viewers made a favorable report on the building. And it was decided to bring the proposed building before the county board of mental retardation. After viewing the building, they made me an offer of $25,000. The asking price was $30,000, which by the way was $7.50 per square foot.

The owner turned down this offer. The building was 4,000 square feet and probably would have met the needs for the workshop for several years.

At the asking price some on the county board thought it was not a suitable location but for $5,000 less the location didn't matter.

I made a comment at the time they would probably end up spending over $100,000 for a building and I see in this week's paper I was only half right.

By the way, the $30,000 building was only 4½ years old and the heat bill budgeted at $25 a month. But I guess it doesn't matter as long as it is taxpayers' money.

LAFF - A - DAY

"There's a hint of spring in the air—the smog is turning green."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I am a teacher. An 8-year-old boy in my class is so active that I can truly say he never sits still for a moment.

He is very bright, but his behavior is totally disruptive.

His parents resent the fact that I have suggested medical attention for their boy.

Can anything be done for such an overactive child?

Dear Miss L.:

The dedication and training of teachers often makes them recognize behavior problems that may be overlooked, and even ignored, by parents.

Far too often, parents take it as a personal insult if they are told about unacceptable behavior of their children.

Actually, the teacher is in the best position to see a child who is in contact with other children of his own age in community living.

The kind of extraordinary hyperactivity that you describe is a very special and definite pattern of behavior which may be the result of physical or emotional problems, or a combination of both.

The condition is called "hyperkinesia."

It is strange, and oddly unexplained, that such overactivity occurs ten times more often in boys than it does in girls. It is rarely seen in children below the age of 4.

I refer, of course, to overactivity associated with abnormal emotional instability and irritability. This does not apply to the normally energetic, enthusiastic outgoing behavior of an active young child.

The parents of this boy would do well to understand the validity of your observations. Medical opinions will rule out any physical disease. Psychological studies may locate emotional conflicts.

There are now many excellent drugs which can reduce the overactivity of children, making them better students. More especially, will they be able to function better in social situations.

Why are nose drops prescribed if they cause so much trouble? I actually became addicted to one and could not spend four hours without putting drops in my nose.

Mr. F. E., Ore.

Dear Mr. E.:

The condition you describe is known as the "rebound phenomenon."

Many people who are allergic or who have a highly sensitive mucous membrane lining of the nose will become dependent (rather than "addicted") to nose drops. These people find that more and more drops are needed at more frequent intervals, to open the nasal passages. This cycle must be broken because of the damage that can be done to the lining of the nose.

Cortisone, in carefully prescribed small doses, for a short time, has been effectively used to break the cycle of dependence.

For various medical reasons, not all people are allowed to use cortisone. Under no circumstances should it be taken without a doctor's advice.

Nose drops are effective and are prescribed for short periods of time. Never are they intended to be used indiscriminately or indefinitely, nor in amounts other than prescribed.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Spring isn't halfway through yet, but summer is already fancy stepping on the horizon.

This means it is time now to step up your conversational skill, because the hotter the weather the more people talk — since that is the only thing they have the energy left for.

So if you wish to shine conversationally this summer, now is the time to practice up on your double talk. Double talk, you will remember, is the art of saying something nice while you are thinking just the opposite, and it is the sine qua non of polite society.

Here are a few typical examples. What the speaker actually said aloud is in quotes. It is followed in each case by what he was really thinking:

"Is it hot enough for you?" — Don't give me that pained look. I know it was a dumb question. I only asked it to see if you were alive.

"Well, you can't win 'em all." — But even a born loser like you ought to win at least one sometime.

"I have the oddest feeling that we have met somewhere before." — But it must have been in a previous existence. I couldn't be this bored twice in the same lifetime.

"You can rest assured that I will take everything you said under careful consideration." — What did you say? I wasn't listening.

"There's nothing like a day with you to keep me going." — Going crazy, I mean.

"What lovely, lovely flowers, Gerald. And how thoughtful of you to send daisies, my favorite flower. You know daisies are to me unforgettable symbols of simply bravery and courage." — This cheapskate wouldn't buy a girl a rose if she were on her deathbed.

"Of course, it's not really all that late, Henry. I'll be glad to pour you one more nightcap if you'd like to have it."

— Now where did I put that bottle with the skull and crossbones on it?

"If you're willing to let bygones be bygones, so am I." — But first turn your back — so I'll have a place to bury this hatchet.

"What are you talking about when you say you hate to get old and wrinkled? I'd say that's the last thing for you to worry about." — Why worry about a few more wrinkles when you've already got a face that looks like a road map of Montana?

The annual Mother-Daughter Banquet of the Zion United Methodist Church will be held May 10 at 6:30 p.m. Reservations are to be made with Dorothy Cook by May 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Small and children, Roseann and Jim of East Tawas, Mich., visited with Mrs. Alice Purcell over the Easter weekend. Mrs. Purcell returned with them to spend a few weeks with her daughter and family.

Bobby Hoover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoover of Madison Street, won first place in the Youth Division of Pickaway County for the Ohio Safety Slogan Contest. Not only did he have to enter the slogan but an essay also had to accompany the entry.

Bob received a certificate and a monetary award for his efforts. The letter he received was signed by Eugene O'Grady, director of the State Highway Department of Highway Safety. His certificate indicating his achievement for the 1973 Traffic Safety Slogan and Essay Contest was signed by Governor John Gilligan. We congratulate this young man for a job well done.

Jean Weigand of 231 Scioto St., Ashville, was presented recently an afghan by the South Bloomfield Methodist Church members. All help in this project was greatly appreciated.

The members of the 1963 graduating class of Teays Valley High School will be having a get-together on May 19 at the Desert Inn in Columbus. The "get-acquainted hour" will be at 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 7:30 p.m. Reservations must be in by May 10 to Judy McCray McCallister of Gretchen Hott Fortner.

The committee is quite anxious to have the addresses of three class members. They are Luther Schwalbaugh, Larry Harris and Gerald Sark. If any friends or relatives of these persons know of their present address would they please contact Judy or Gretchen so that invitations can be mailed to them.

The Friendship Circle of the Zion United Methodist Church will meet at the church on May 3 at 7:30 p.m. All members are urged to attend as new curtains will be installed at the basement windows. A potluck lunch will follow the meeting.

On April 21st the Equestrian Cloverleaf Riders 4-H Club attended the Delaware County 4-H Club Horse Clinic. The event was held at the Delaware County Fairgrounds.

Attending were advisor Mrs. Kenneth Cummins and Kimberly Kay, Cindy Woodruff, Ann Strawser, Sheila Route and Natalie Hancher.

The group was welcomed by Jim Helt, Mt. Gilead area 4-H agent and Ralph Jordan, Delaware County 4-H Agent. The members observed the proper showmanship and equitation for English Hunt Seat, English Saddle Seat, Western Horsemanship and Showmanship and horse training and preparation for exhibit. They received many valuable ideas for their own use during the year.

April 27 Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cummins and family and Mrs. Virginia Route and daughters traveled to the Butler County Mounted Patrol Horse Show at Hamilton. Miss Pam Route, showing her Sir Errett in Registered Half-Arabian Park Horse, placed first in a class of fifteen. She also showed in the Registered Half-Arabian and Registered Arabian Y. A. English Equitation class and placed second among eleven entries.

2, a proposed change in the Ohio Constitution that would allow local governments to take property easements for water and sewer improvements by making a deposit rather than having to await litigation fixing a price.

"The owner may litigate the question of value to the fullest, if he considers the amount offered to be inadequate," the senator said.

The amendment he favors is among seven proposed on the May 8 ballot.

Maloney feels the amendment that would lift a constitutional ban on a state lottery has hurt the chances of Issue 2.

"Unfortunately, the lottery question has overshadowed the importance of State Issue No. 2," he said.

Maloney said he believes the language on the ballot describing Issue 2 may be "a bit confusing" but said he strongly urged a "yes" vote as "a step toward clearing up the problems."

He said, "As it stands today, one or two people can sometimes hold up a water or sewer project that will benefit thousands, and often the easement involves only a narrow strip of unimproved land."

Maloney said the amendment does not grant the broad power of eminent domain to public agencies that would use it, mostly municipalities, counties, and sewer districts. "It would allow them to take immediate possession of a property for construction and maintenance of water and sewer lines," he said.

"It simply speeds up construction by permitting the public agency to take possession after making a deposit . . . and it would not allow property to be taken without compensation."

The senator said much is heard about pollution of Ohio's rivers and streams, and "we will agree something should be done about it. . . here's where every voter can strike a blow against pollution."

He also pointed out that the legislature already has created the Ohio Water Development Authority and the Environmental Protection Agency. Both have "extensive funding" for water and sewer improvements to clean up and protect the environment, he said.

Issue 2 apparently has no organized opposition. The Committee for Issue 2, of which William Knepper of Columbus is chairman, is working for its passage.

Financial Protest

ST. CATHERINES, Ont. (AP) — Brock University students recently raised $1,000 to be given to the university for faculty salaries.

Dorothee Hewke, student public relations officer, said the purpose of their collection was to show the Ontario government that Brock is extremely concerned with cuts in education in the province.

PASSBOOK EARNINGS

PER YEAR COMPOUNDED QUARTERLY

PAID from DAY of DEPOSIT to DAY of WITHDRAWAL

Here you can deposit money in an Equitable Federal Passbook account any day of the month, and you start earning interest that same day. We've tossed out the old-fashioned save-by-the-10th idea. Now you can save out of second paycheck of the month, and we'll add interest every day.

And Equitable pays you interest to day of withdrawal! Under the old way, you waited until the end of quarter to draw any money, because otherwise you earned no interest on those dollars. Now you don't have to wait. You can leave your money on deposit for one day, one week, one month . . . whatever you decide and earn full interest for every day we have your money. You never lose interest at Equitable Federal.

Sorority Selects Mary Walters For Woman Of The Year Honors

Mary Walters (Mrs. Charles) was selected as Woman of the Year by members of Xi Eta Epsilon Exemplar Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. Family members, friends, business associates and sorority members honored her Tuesday evening with a reception at Pickaway Country Club.

Mrs. Walters was told by her husband that he was to show slides of Ethiopia to the husbands of sorority members and she was to accompany him wearing a dress she bought while in that country. The deception was beautifully handled by everyone connected with the affair.

A corsage was pinned to Mrs. Walters' shoulder by Mrs. Reber Bell and Mrs. Charles Curlett read a brief history of the sorority and explained its purpose. The record "Mary" was played setting the mood for events to honor Mary Walters.

The first of several people whose lives touched Mary closely in family, business or society, introduced by Mrs. Curlett mistress of ceremonies for the evening, was another Mary Walters, her sister-in-law; then came into the room Mrs. Robert Denman, who had worked for many years with Mrs. Walters at the Red Cross Blood Bank; another registered nurse, who had also assisted at the Blood Bank, Mrs. C. C. Schwarz; Mrs. Irene Bell, administrator of the Brown Memorial

'The Bald Soprano' Program For AAUW Annual Lecture

Eugene Ionesco's one act play "The Bald Soprano" was performed by the Ohio State University student organization "The Strollers" at the 11th annual Lillian Dougherty Lecture held Tuesday evening in the Nicholas Drive School auditorium.

The Circleville Branch American Assn. of University Women sponsors this lecture series annually in honor of Mrs. Dougherty who was one of the organizers of the branch.

Adviser of the student group, Dr. Mark Auburn, was present at the meeting to explain the play. Dr. Auburn is a professor of English at the Ohio State University. He explained that "The Strollers" has been in existence at Ohio State for over 80 years and is nearly the oldest student organization on campus.

Dr. Auburn said that the Theater of the Absurd, which this play represents, dramatizes the idea that "man's life and the way he lives it is absurd." Following the presentation, the play was discussed.

Members of the cast included: Kathie Walk, Dale Hruska, John Madigan, Julia Holiat, Jacie Glynn, Merle Owsen and student director, John Manning. None of these students is a drama major, they come from many fields of study.

Members of the cast, Dr. Auburn, members and guests present were invited to get acquainted at the refreshment table following the play.

Hostesses were: Joy Myers and Nancy River, co-chairmen; Shirley Bowser, Jo Hamilton, Nelle Oesterle, Marcia Robertson, Georgia Reid, Marie Gerhardt, Sheryl Logan, Betty Rickey, Winifred Beckley and Sharon Wilanowski.

Guild 48 Schedules Installation Dinner

Berger Hospital Guild 48 will meet 6:30 p.m. Monday at Tink's for its installation dinner. All members are urged to be present.

Miss Anna Marie Allen Wed To John Nicholas Faren

MR. AND MRS. JOHN NICHOLAS FAREN

Miss Anna Marie Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Allen, 349 E. High St., Circleville, and Mr. John Nicholas Faren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Faren, Lancaster, exchanged wedding vows 1:30 p.m. March 24th.

Father George Schlegel performed the double ring ceremony in St. Mary's Catholic Church of Lancaster.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected for her wedding a floor length gown of white dotted Swiss. The fitted bodice with long sleeves and square neckline, and the tiers of the skirt were enhanced with white lace. A flat bow held the bride's bouffant veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of miniature white carnations.

Maid of honor was Miss Freda Allen, sister of the bride. She was attired in a floor length gown of yellow dotted Swiss and carried a bouquet of white, pink and yellow carnations. Miss Chris Faren, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid dressed as the honor attendant in lilac and carrying a matching bouquet. Flower girl was Miss Kathy Gray, a cousin of the groom.

Mr. Ronald Allen, brother of the bride, served as best man and Mr. Gregg Maxfield seated the guests.

The bride's mother wore a floor length gown of black and white and Mrs. Faren chose a two piece blue and white suit. The corsages for both mothers were of white carnations.

A reception at St. James the Less Cafeteria, Oakland Park, Columbus, followed the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Circleville High School and currently employed at USS Chemicals in Circleville. Mr. Faren graduated from DeSales High School in Columbus and is employed by Mobil Shoe Company. The couple now resides at 157 Walnut St., Circleville.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Columbus, Cleveland, Belaire, Circleville, London, Maple Heights, Ohio, and Pittsburgh, Pa.

Deny Tax Increase Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying a high-ranking administration official was misunderstood when speaking of a possible tax hike, Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz has denied that President Nixon is considering an increase.

Shultz commented on an interview earlier in the week by Chairman Herbert F. Stein of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, who said "we are studying the possibility" of tax increases to slow down the economy.

Interviewed on the National Public Affairs Center for Television Thursday, Shultz said Stein's comments "were misunderstood."

"We are going to propose a program on Monday on behalf of the President

... that will aim at greater equity in the tax system and greater simplicity for the taxpayer in trying to understand that system and fill out his or her tax form," Shultz said, adding:

"But that's a very different thing from any ... proposal for an increase in taxes. There will be no such proposal."

He declined to go into more detail on the upcoming proposals. Meanwhile, Sen. William Proxmire today said if Nixon proposes a tax increase, "I will do my best to kill it."

The Wisconsin Democrat, vice chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, noted some administration suggestions such an increase might be in the works as an anti-inflation move.

"It would be a harsh and outrageous act at a time when the administration is wasting billions in unneeded subsidies, excessive military aid spending, foreign military aid to some 46 countries in the world, and for frivolous items like servants for the military brass and limousines for every minor bureaucrat in Washington."

Also Thursday, AFL-CIO President George Meany urged Congress to reject President Nixon's proposal for expanding trade with the Soviet Union by granting the Soviets a most-favored trade status.

Thieves Take 90 Pounds Of Wire

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department and investigators from the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad office, Columbus, are probing the theft of $112.50 worth of copper wire from communications poles owned by the railroad on tracks north of County Road 509.

Special agent D. E. Dailey reported the theft Tuesday night. He told the local department that the thieves climbed a pole and cut eight wires between three poles to escape with 2,160 feet of number 9 copper wire. The wire, which was apparently rolled into a ball, weighed 90 pounds.

Action Taken In Kidnap Case

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Two children allegedly kidnapped in Pennsylvania were ordered returned to their parents Thursday by a Montgomery County Juvenile Court judge.

The children, Faith Ann Richter, 3, and her sister, Jennie Lynn, 4 months, were ordered returned to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Richter of Lorain, Ohio.

They allegedly were taken by Donald E. Seymour, 41, and his wife, Linda, 29, of Dayton, while the Richter family resided temporarily in Pennsylvania.

"There is no reason to believe that such treatment will lead the U.S.S.R. to make earnest efforts for removing the causes of international tension and promoting equitable and lasting world peace," Meany said in a prepared New York speech at the Congressional Medal of Honor Society's annual Patriot's Award Dinner.

Solons Eye Skin Flicks

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Some Texas lawmakers have asked for a private showing of "Deep Throat" and "Last Tango in Paris" so they can see, uh, just how bad they are.

The House Intergovernmental Affairs Committee voted 12 to 1 Thursday night to subpoena the films.

Rep. Billy Williamson, D-Tyler, said the committee should see them and then vote for his bill to allow cities to license theater operators. Licenses could be revoked if X-rated films were shown to persons under 18.

"I'm here to challenge this committee to subpoena some of the current filth that is circulating in our land, that would subvert the morals of our youth," William said.

He said a newsman told him "Deep Throat" was such a film, "and something called 'Tango.'"

State Has Booklet For Senior Citizens

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state has published a new booklet providing the elderly with information on food stamps, financial assistance, Medicare, Social Security, tax relief, employment and other senior citizen opportunities.

Entitled "Little Red Book for Citizens over 60," the booklet may be obtained free by writing the Ohio Department of Public Welfare, Box 2669, Columbus, Ohio, 43215.

Democrats Study Possible Reforms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic party reformers today consider recommendations that include shedding a delegate "quota system" that figured in Sen. George McGovern's presidential nomination.

Lumped together as the Commission on Delegate Selection and Party Structure, the reformers were told by the 1972 convention to study the McGovern rules and recommend changes or improvements. He initially chaired the group.

On the eve of the commission's first meeting, a group of middle-of-the-roads called for major revision of the McGovern guidelines.

The Coalition for a Democratic Majority recommended a revision of the rule which resulted in the so-called "quotas" for women, minorities and youth in convention delegations.

In place of such a system, the CDM suggested the requirement of a good faith effort to balance delegations.

The object of the recommendations would be elimination of features which enabled McGovern to rise from distant dark horse status to the party's presidential nominee.

The group recommended that the rule on open slatemaking be dropped.

This rule led to Chicago Mayor Richard Daley's slate of delegates being excluded from last year's convention.

A tactic crucial to McGovern's victory—packing local delegate-selection caucuses—would be prevented by another rule revision.

In addition, the CDM suggested that Democratic governors, senators and House members be made automatic delegates, that state party organizations elect up to 20 per cent of the delegates, and that rules be tightened to prevent defection of delegates won by candidates in primaries.

Workers Off Across Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Millions of Japanese got a holiday from work today, thanks to a three-day transport strike kicking off the annual spring labor offensive for higher wages.

More than three million workers struck at dawn for 72 hours. The walkout was led by employees of the government and private railway companies, but they were joined by harbor workers, telephone and telegraph operators, postoffice employees, hospital staffs, teachers and workers in government offices.

Workers on the privately owned railways called off their walkout this afternoon after winning a $55.47 monthly wage boost.

But the 250,000 employees of the National Railways stayed out as negotiations continued on their demands for an average hike of $78 monthly, the right to strike for themselves and all other government employees, and an admission from the government that past disciplinary action against them was too harsh.

More than 24 million people were unable to get to work. The private rail workers agreed to settle early in the afternoon, but by then nearly 18,000 trains had been immobilized.

About 380 helmeted radical students demonstrating in support of the strikers were arrested outside a Tokyo station and charged with obstructing police.

The big department stores and many other businesses did not open. Many offices were closed. Some companies got their employees to work by car or special buses, while others laid out mattresses on the premises for those who refused to go home Thursday night.

One of the two major domestic airlines was struck. The sleek, high-speed trains of the Tokyo-Osaka-Okayama line thinned out to one every two hours; normally they leave Tokyo and Osaka every 15 minutes.

Admiral Fletcher Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Frank Jack Fletcher, 87, a task force commander in the battles of the Coral Sea and Midway during World War II, died Wednesday. He won the Medal of Honor at Veracruz, Mexico, in 1914, and the Navy Cross in World War I.

Tigerettes

Are Selected

Circleville band's marching corps, the Tigerettes, has been appointed for next year's marching season.

Under the direction of Miss Cathy Nye will be nineteen girls who will perform in flag and pompon precision routines during the marching band's performances.

Those selected were:

Gloria Alvarez, Vicki Bowers, Sonia Brumfield, Debbie Coey, Renny Connell, Donna Dowden, Brenda Goodman, Kathy Johnson, Kelly Jones, Kathy Logan, Audrey May, Julie Miller, Jo Myers, Leslie Pettit, Barbara Schneider, Sheri Smith, Kim Timberlake, Cindy Tucker, Julie Wilson.

Rotating alternates for the corps are Sally Groves and Susan Simison.

Ashville Plans Pre-School Clinic In May

A pre-school clinic for students who will enter Ashville Elementary this fall is now being planned.

The clinic and registration will be held in the foyer and clinic of the Primary Building May 3 and 4, from 9 a.m. until noon.

Students entering first grade must be six years of age on or before Sept. 30. A certificate verifying the child's birth date will be required, plus a record of immunization.

The Pickaway County Health Department will have personnel available to administer needed shots on pre-clinic days.

Both state and local Departments of Health are becoming more particular about the immunization of children prior to entering school, so it will be mandatory that this be done before the child enters school in September, Principal Robert Gregory noted.

Some 23 per cent of those surveyed felt service was excellent, and 37 per cent rated it as very good, the Postal Service said Wednesday. Another 25 per cent said service was just good, 9 per cent said it was fair, and 3 per cent felt it was poor. Another 2 per cent registered no opinion. Postal authorities said the survey was conducted by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N.J., during the summer of 1972. Tourist Center Wins Damages NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — A Licking County Common Pleas Court judge has awarded Ohio Tourist Center, Inc., of Granville $19,000 in damages in a suit filed by a former employee. Judge Winston Allen ruled Tuesday that Heinz Goggle, an artist, had to pay the firm $9,500 in actual damages and $9,500 in punitive damages for taking sculptures and models belonging to the company. Goggle had originally filed a suit against the company to obtain $16,000 in back pay. Judge Allen ruled that no payment was due him. Ohio Tourist plans to open a religious park near Cambridge next year.

Where the Deer and the Antelope Play

I should have known everything would be all right when I took Bob home to the ranch during spring break. One of the nicest things about our falling in love has been finding that we agree about almost everything under the sun.

Bob won Mom's heart the minute we got there. Laurie, my little sister, asked, "Come see my bird's nest?" "Sure," Bob said, and away they went. Mom beamed. She thinks anyone who likes children and birds is all right.

Later, Bob played basketball with my brothers and tinkered with the tractor, getting black and greasy right along with Dad. Everybody loved him.

Sunday we all went to church. Standing there, singing with Bob, my family close by, I thanked God for His goodness.

I'm glad that God and his church have been an important part of my life and of Bob's. Our life together will be enriched by this shared reverence.

Your church offers joyous fellowship. Why don't you go — and take your family with you?

Good Shepherd Church Celebrates 75th Anniversary

EDITOR'S NOTE—The following is an article written and compiled by Miss Lucille Kirkwood, Church Historian, as text for a special booklet to be given out at the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church's 75th anniversary celebration Sunday.

Zane's Trail was basically the road over which United Brethrenism came into Ohio from the place of its inception, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. As pioneers migrated westward, those having affiliation with the United Brethren movement settled for the most part more heavily in Fairfield, Pickaway and Ross Counties.

These people were of German or Pennsylvania Dutch descent. Many of these migrants settling in Pickaway County were United Brethren. Too, a great number were Methodists. They came as early as 1800.

The "old" Scioto Conference, organized in 1825, contained this section of the United Brethren Church, extending to the Ohio River in the South and to Lake Erie on the North.

The first official paper or magazine of the United Brethren denomination, The Religious Telescope, was published in Circleville, Dec. 31, 1834. The Scioto Conference felt the necessity for a printing establishment, and the Religious Telescope evolved to provide "news of the church, official action of the Annual Conferences, inspirational materials and discussions of current issues of the day (such as the abolition of slavery, etc.)."

It was in 1837 that the First United Brethren in Christ Church in Circleville had its beginnings. Regular services were held on alternate Sundays at the County Court House, which then stood in the center of the old historic circle, where Main and Court Sts. cross. The following year services were transferred to the Academy building.

The Rev. William Hanby came to Circleville as treasurer of the Printing establishment, and preached to this new born Church and Congregation in the year 1838. "With the close of the year, a great revival was started in Circleville, which resulted in the organization of the United Brethren Church of about one hundred members."

In 1839 a brick church was erected on the property on E. Main St. The church was constructed of bricks moulded by Taselton Collins and the carpenter work was done by B. Beaver.

The Rev. John Coons was the first pastor. "He was a good preacher of good ability, but was distinguished especially for his good judgment and responsible character." In 1841, he was elected to the Bishopric. The fact that he won the confidence of his associates and held such a high place of leadership is amazing. He did not possess a common school education and could not read a verse in the Bible until after his conversion.

During the first few years, the Church had a hard struggle for existence; the salaries of the ministers were only raised with the greatest difficulty and the indebtedness on the church was not completed until 1854, when, 14 years after construction, it was finally dedicated.

In 1843, the Rev. Hanby served the church for one year. He was followed by the Rev. David Edwards. In one year the membership grew from 125 to 716. In 1845 the General Conference was held in Circleville, this being referred to as "the heart of the United Brethren Movement."

At this same Conference in 1845 it was voted to move the Printing Establishment to the basement of First Church, and three new Bishops were elected: namely, the Rev. J. Russell, the Rev. J. Glossbrener and the Rev. William Hanby. Bishop Hanby was the father of Benjamin Hanby, who wrote "Darling Nellie Gayer", and a daughter Jennie Hanby, the first church organist of the United Brethren denomination in Canal Winchester.

In the fall of 1853 the Publishing Establishment was moved to Dayton, Ohio. The transfer of the equipment was made on the Canal from Circleville to Columbus. From Columbus to Xenia it was transported by railroad and from Xenia to Dayton by wagons.

From the year 1844 when the church prospered under the leadership of the Rev. Edwards, there was a total of 9 ministers until 1858. At that time, the congregation being unable to support a pastor, the church was attached to the Pickaway circuit.

At an Annual Conference in 1866, it was resolved that First Church be called a mission church and that it receive an appropriation from Conference funds to sustain it. Rev. Daniel Bonebrake was appointed pastor. In 1867 Rev. J. Dickson was assigned as pastor, and during his pastorate the tower was erected to the church.

In 1877 Rev. J. Mills was assigned to the pastorate. Again, the church prospered and the membership increased.

On April 27, 1880 A Women's Missionary Association was organized in First Church with eleven charter members. The first Girls' Missionary Society, the Gleaner's Band was organized in 1885. At a later time the name was changed to Otterbein Guild.

The church prospered under the long and successful pastorate of the Rev. A. E. Wright, who was assigned to the church in 1894. The old church became inadequate, and in 1897 the Trustees were given the responsibility to investigate the possibilities of remodeling the church. However, it was decided to raze the old building and build a more modern edifice. In April 1898 the old church was torn down and work on the new church, a handsome brick structure, was begun at a cost of $8100.00, not including old brick used and other materials from the old church. The building committee consisted of the Rev. A. E. Wright, E. S. Neuding, and George Smith. The Trustees of the church were J. J. Brehmer, E. S. Neuding, George Denman, George Smith, A. English, Frank Gordon, and S. Holdren. At that time there were 800 Communicants.

By looking at the exterior of the Church you can clearly see where the new bricks, in the front part, were used and the bricks from the old church were used in the other parts of the building.

The Church organized a Mission in the north end of Circleville in 1904, but discontinued the project and started a Sunday School in the south side of town.

The Rev. A. Orr was assigned to the church as pastor in 1905. The church was still very much in debt and in 1906, Bishop Mills was invited as guest speaker and an effort was made to liquidate the debt. Later in the year, a Jubilee service was held to raise $500 to repair and refinish the interior of the church. The platform at that time was changed to make it all one height.

The Otterbein Brotherhood was organized March 12, 1908. It was the first such organization in Circleville.

It is interesting to note that there was a listing of the names of the Choir members of the Church in 1907 in the Church Paper, called the U. B. Messenger. In that year the choir members were Mary Wilson, Martha Denman, Mary (Kuhn) Lucas, Camsey Trimmer, Fannie Smith (Green), Carrie LeMaster (Ater), James Trimmer. Mrs. Taylor was hired as the Director and no person could be admitted to the choir unless recommended by the Director and Pastor. At a later date, an effort was made to get new choir members. Mr. E. S. Neuding and Mrs. W. I. Hanna were appointed as a committee to interview persons as to their Christian experience and observe their character.

A Boy Scout Troop was organized in 1913 when Rev. George Hughes was assigned to the church. In 1914 the street was paved in front of the church and members paid $6.00 per block to help pay the church's apportionment on paving.

In 1915 the Rev. J. W. Willis was pastor. He with E. S. Neuding and George Hartman were privileged to interview two young men, Brothers Harry Welch and Thurman Thompson and question them preparatory to receiving Quarterly Conference licenses to preach. A number of young men from the Church were licensed over the years to preach, namely: Robert Gehres, Orin Baker, Ernest Seymour, Ewing Ross, David Thomas, Emmitt Eccard, Branson Hawkes, Richard Thomas and Fred Brown.

In 1920 during the pastorate of the Rev. A. B. Cox, a house east of the church was purchased and used as a parsonage. A house west of the church was purchased and used as a "Community House", a place for fellowship meetings. Rev. A. E. Wright came back to Circleville to the Church he had built 22 years earlier and dedicated the newly purchased buildings; also, the indebtedness of $10,000.00 on the buildings was subscribed by individual pledges and organizations.

Nineteen pastors have served the Church since Dr. Wright's ministry to the Church. In 1939, the Congregation celebrated 100 years of service for the Lord. Dr. T. C. Harper was pastor. In March of that year at a homecoming celebration a new electronic organ, Orgatone, was dedicated to the glory of God. Dr. Harper died in May of 1939 following surgery. A Sunday School Class for young married couples was organized and chose the Harper Bible Class in memory of the pastor who so much desired to have such a class organized.

The old Scioto Conference of the United Brethren Church became Southeast Ohio Conference in 1900, and at the Annual Conference held in Circleville in 1947, the name was changed to Ohio Southeast Conference. On November 16, 1946 the United Brethren in Christ Church merged with the Evangelical Church, thus becoming the Evangelical United Brethren denomination.

In 1951, while the Reverend Carl L. Wilson was pastor, the new educational unit, named Christian Service Center, was constructed. The chancel in the sanctuary was remodeled and new pulpit furniture was constructed.

After the Rev. O. F. Gibbs assumed the pastorate in 1957, the second floor of the Christian Service Center was completed. In this second floor area classrooms and an auditorium with stage were provided for the children's department. A new parsonage was purchased at 555 Ridgewood Drive, in the north end of town. The old parsonage was razed and a new parking lot was provided. The interior of the sanctuary was completely redecorated including new red carpeting and new light fixtures in the sanctuary. These were very good years in spiritual growth for the Church.

The Reverend H. Eugene Flowers came to the Church as pastor in June 1965. The UnderShepherd Visitation Program was instituted with 36 teams. This program worked very effectively, while it was used. A new Allen organ was installed, and the exterior of the church was given a face lifting by sandblasting and water proofing.

On April 23, 1968, with the merger of the Evangelical United Brethren Church and the Methodist, we became United Methodist. Since there were two "First" churches of the former denominations by name in town, both churches were requested to change their names. In 1969 the first Evangelical United Brethren Church became Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, and First Methodist Church became Community United Methodist Church.

In June of 1970, the conferences of the two original denominations convened at the Conference Grounds at Lakeside for the first Annual Conference of Ohio West Conference with 14 districts. Circleville is now in the Columbus South District with Bishop F. Gerald Ensley as our leader.

In 1971, a $35,000.00 Improvement Program of the Church and Christian Service Center was approved by the Administrative Board and the Board of Church Location and Building of the Columbus South District. The sanctuary was redecorated, wall-to-wall carpet was laid, and new pews were installed in the sanctuary. choir loft and overflow room at rear of sanctuary.

In 1972 two air-conditioning units were installed in the Church proper, and two units in the Christian Service Center. The Pastor's Study was redecorated; the ceiling in the dining area of the Service Center was lowered and indirect lighting was installed; the nursery was completely renovated with indirect lighting and Plex-a-Glass installed over windows; the upstairs area was redecorated (by the men of the Church).

Good Shepherd Church Names Guest Speaker

The Good Shepherd United Methodist Church will observe the 75th anniversary of the construction of the present church edifice Sunday.

Guest speaker at the 9:30 a.m. worship service will be Bishop F. Gerald Ensley, presiding Bishop of the West Ohio Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Dr. Glenn S. Copeland, District Superintendent of the Columbus South District, will also be participating in the service.

Dinner will be served at noon in the service center followed by a brief afternoon fellowship.

"The Church from its early inception has rendered a total of 134 years of Christian Service to this community," according to Pastor H. Eugene Flowers who was assigned to the Parish in 1965.

Land now used for the present building on E. Main St. was home for the first church building of the congregation in 1839.

The congregation, then called the First United Brethren in Christ, actually got their start in 1837 when they met on alternate Sundays in the Pickaway County Court House.

Although "many changes have taken place in these many years... the mission of our church remains the same, 'a Bible ministry, evangelistic effort and Mission,' according to Pastor Flowers. "This great heritage has been passed on to use from the charter members to each generation."

Serving the church today as officers with the Rev. Flowers are Robert Dumm, chairman of the Administrative Board; Mrs. Elliott Mason, chairman of the Council of Ministries; Mrs. David Steel, chairman of the Education Committee; Donald Watson, chairman of the Evangelism Committee; Mrs. Forrest Schlegler, Chairman of Missions; Paul Roan, chairman of Social Concerns; David Steele, chairman of Stewardship; Mrs. Carl Baker, chairman of the Worship Committee; and Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe, chairman of Ecumenical Affairs.

FIRST BUILDING — This church, built by the congregation of the First United Brethren in Christ Church, was constructed in 1839. Fifty-nine years later it was razed to allow construction of the Circleville Evangelical United Brethren Church which later became known as the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church in 1968.

NEW CHURCH — The Good Shepherd United Methodist Church's congregation built this church in 1898 after members decided it would not be feasible to remodel a brick church erected in 1839. The church will celebrate the 75th anniversary in the building Sunday.

"I AM THE GOOD SHEPHERD" — When the Evangelical United Brethren Church and the Methodist Church merged to become a single denomination known as United Methodists April 23, 1968, their were two Methodist Churches in Circleville. The First Methodist Church changed their name to the Community United Methodist Church and the EUB Church became known as the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church. They copied the name from a Bible verse attached to the above stained-glass window in their worship center.

The sermon theme selected for Sunday morning at Trinity Lutheran Church is "Because We Love." Discussion for the 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Bible Study will be "Fifty Days To Pentecost." An AA meeting will be held Friday in the Parish House.

Board Members Face Prosecution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state auditor's office said Wednesday a report has been turned over to the Campbell city prosecutor showing the Campbell City School Board violated state competitive bidding laws.

Officials said the report showed violations of sections of the Ohio Revised Code requiring that contracts of $6,000 or more for school equipment and maintenance be offered for competitive bidding.

The report showed that instead of putting them up for bids, the board broke contracts into amounts of less than $6,000 on projects costing more than that and awarded them to the same firms.

LEGAL NOTICE
Sealed bids will be received by the Clerk of the Village of South Bloomfield, Ohio, at the clerk's office in the Council house of said Village until 7:30 p.m. May 7, 1973, for furnishing said Village on an as-if-and-when needed basis, the following materials and supplies for the Village of South Bloomfield, Ohio, during the calendar year of 1973, to wit:

1. 50 to 500 tons, more or less, of asphaltic concrete, known commercially as T-35 or maximum pre-mixed surface course, Type A, known commercially as T-34, F.O.B. Village Trucks at the plant of bidder; or a net cost to Village after hauling and application of the said material by bidder to the streets of the Village of South Bloomfield in or at the places so designated by the Street Commissioner of the Village of South Bloomfield, Ohio, or other duly authorized official of said Village.

2. 5000 to 20,000 Gallons of bituminous road tar, known commercially as RT-7 or TT-8 or RT-9 F.O.B. Village Trucks at the plant of bidder; or at net cost to Village after the hauling and application of said material by bidder to the streets of the Village of South Bloomfield, in or at the places so designated by the Street Commissioner of the Village of South Bloomfield, Ohio, or other duly authorized official of said Village.

3. 200 to 800 tons of No. 6, 100 per cent crushed gravel F.O.B. Village trucks at plant of bidder; or at net cost to Village after the hauling and application of the said material by bidder to the streets of the Village of South Bloomfield, in or at the places so designated by the Street Commissioner of the Village of South Bloomfield, Ohio, or other duly authorized official of said Village.

Bidders shall submit an bid per unit basis and all materials furnished and applied shall comply with the State of Ohio Department of Highways, construction and maintenance specifications in force on date of sale, or as approved by the Council of the Village of South Bloomfield, Ohio.

Cash or certified check on some solvent bank in the amount of twenty five dollars ($25.00) shall accompany said bid. Should any bid be rejected, such check will be forthwith returned to the bidder, and should any bid be accepted, such check will be returned upon the proper execution and securing of the contract.

The Village Council of South Bloomfield, Ohio reserve the right to accept or reject any and all bids submitted.

Churches

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States, much of which in the past sponsored gambling officially and then outlawed it, is reviving the practice again in many places.

A "gambling explosion" is on, says the Rev. Dr. Paul M. Minus Jr., of Delaware, Ohio, a professor of church history.

Although the churches generally have remained silent on the matter in recent times, he says they should take up the ethical issues involved in the

Toy River Aids Battle Against Floods

CLINTON, Miss. (AP) — A $12-million scale model of the Mississippi River was in flood today to give the Corps of Army Engineers answers to real-life emergencies that could arise along the swollen stream.

The "world's largest, smallscale working model" has been recalled to 24-hour duty to supply information used in the Corps' struggle to control one of the 20th century's great floods.

It marked a possible new lease on life for a unique Corps facility which had been declared surplus—a victim of the computer.

The men who operate the Mississippi River Basin model, laid out on 220 acres near Clinton, were aglow with both victory and optimism.

"We expect to be in operation a few more years," said James Foster, the engineer in charge. "Computers have not been able to duplicate what this model can do."

Maj. Gen. Charles C. Noble, head of the Mississippi River Commission at Vicksburg, Miss., said the "surplus" facility is a valuable test tool during a flood crisis like this one.

Engineers say the intricate relationship between the Mississippi and its tributaries doesn't always lend itself to computer analysis.

"A computer is only as good as the data you input," said Noble. "There usually comes a time, in these situations, when you feel a lot better if you can put the problem on the model and get an empirical answer."

Mostly Silent On State Lotteries

"country's drift toward the questionable values of a gambling culture."

The particular target of his criticisms, made in the ecumenical weekly, Christian Century, is the spreading pattern of state-run lotteries, legalized in eight states in the last nine years.

Similar steps are being considered in 10 other states. At least 10 states also are thinking of following New York City's lead into the business of operating off-track betting parlors on horse races.

Although most Protestant churches, particularly Methodists and Baptists, traditionally have opposed gambling and hotly challenged widespread

Returnee Loses Son In Accident

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A returned POW was to bury his only son today.

The son, Randolph Jay "Randy" Myers, 14, died accidentally when a sand dune caved in on him last weekend at Port Arkansas.

When he returned from North Vietnam earlier this year, Lt. Col. Armand J. Myers of San Antonio said: "I left a small boy of 6 years old.

"He was a very sweet and very docile boy ... when I came back, I looked up to a 6-foot-2, young bright, mature man and from what I've seen so far, I'm real proud."

moves 18 years ago legalizing bingo games, there has been scant religious reaction to the present trend.

The current moves for state lotteries and other gambling activities are being pressed as a means of raising needed additional revenue without intensifying the upward spiral of already painfully high taxes.

While Roman Catholicism does not consider gambling sinful in itself, many of its leaders lately have discouraged bingo as a means of fund-raising, but have had little to say about the spread of state gambling operations.

Dr. Minus, who teaches at Ohio's Methodist Theological School, says that for the churches to ignore the expanding gambling pattern is to deny their responsibility to the poor.

He says that while state lotteries attract about the same proportion of participants of each economic stratum, from high-income people to the impoverished, it is the poor who are victimized.

New Tags Must Be On Ashville Autos

Alva Boyer, chief of Police of the village of Ashville, announced today that all cars with 1972 license tags must be off the streets by Monday.

Boyer said the cars will be towed away if found parked on the streets next week.

Dr. Minus contends that "in spite of aggressive merchandising, state lotteries have not netted as much revenue" as predicted — usually only a fraction of a per cent of the state budget. Nor, he adds, have they crippled operations of illegal gambling syndicates.

A state lottery was instituted by New Hampshire in 1964, and since has been authorized in Massachusetts, Con-

They'll Guard Against Vandals

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Three years after removing attendants from public toilets, Salford is bringing them back because their wages — 16,000 pounds of $38,400 a year — cost the city less than the damage done by vandals.

nnecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Maryland, with others considering it.

The current trend, however, is not the first time states have used lotteries. Between 1790 and 1870, according to Harvard University historian John S. Ezell, 24 of the then 36 states sponsored lotteries to raise money.

But cases of fraud and public protests against victimization of the poor started a reverse trend in which all of the state lotteries of that period eventually were prohibited.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Leave Children With Trustworthy People

DEAR ABBY: I am divorced with an 8-month-old son, Timmy. Last week-end my boy friend invited me to go to Las Vegas with him, so I left Timmy with a friend I'll call Carol. Carol has no children of her own, but she has practically raised her young brothers and sisters so I thought my baby would be in good hands.

When I came home and went to pick up Timmy, I as was shocked and heartsick. He was all bruised and black and blue. I asked Carol what happened to him, and she said he fell off a chair. Abby, he can hardly sit up, and what would an 8-month-old child be doing on a chair? He looked as if he had been beaten.

I took Timmy home, and now he cries all the time and seems so weak and unhappy. What should I do? Carol won't admit to having beaten him, if that's what she did. I'm so nervous and upset and have no one to talk to. Help me.

YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Take the baby to a pediatrician for a thorough examination to determine whether he has suffered internal injuries. You could file charges against Carol for abusing your child, but you would have to prove it, which would be virtually impossible. Next time, leave your baby with one you are sure you can trust.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for six years and have two children. My problem is a husband who never likes to go out, and I do.

Well, one evening my husband's brother came over with his wife. The brother wanted to go out, but his wife didn't. The wife herself suggested that HE take me. My husband told me to go ahead, so I went. I hadn't been out in such a long time I jumped at the chance. We got home around midnight.

I asked a couple of my friends what they thought of this and one said, "You're lucky to have such an understanding husband."

Another said, "Any man who lets his wife go out with another man can't love her. He must be seeing another woman."

What is your opinion? And do you see anything wrong with what I did?

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEE: I'd agree with the first friend. (P.S. An occasional night out with your brother in law is all right, but don't make a habit of it.)

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I had a child out of wedlock. Because I was pregnant, unable to work, and unmarried, I filed for public aid. After the baby came I was advised to file a paternity suit against Roy, the baby's father. Roy admitted paternity, and the court ordered him to pay me child support every month, which he does.

Roy is marrying a girl who lives about 50 miles away. He says his fiancée knows nothing about the child and he has no intentions of telling her. I think he should. The child carries Roy's last name, and if anything should happen to me, he would have to take the child. Roy is 30 years old, makes a very good living, and this will be his first marriage.

Would I be out of line to let Roy's fiancée know about our child? If I were in her place, I'd want someone to tell me!

Considering it

DEAR CONSIDERING: Tell Roy he is unrealistic, unfair, and kidding himself if he thinks he can keep this illegitimate child a secret from his wife forever. I would not tell the girl, but I would advise you to urge Roy to before the wedding.

Custom Tailor Heads Costume Committee For 'The Crucible'

Chuck Nichol, costume and make-up chairman for the Roundtown Players' production of "The Crucible", is a new member of the group.

Nichol lives in Columbus with his wife and three children, and is associated with Hersch-Osborn Custom Tailoring. He received his Master's Degree in theatre at Northwestern University. For five years he was the costumer at Ohio University. Since that time he had not been associated with a theatre group until he joined the Roundtown Players in January.

He has created authentic costumes of the early Puritan style for this show. Claiming that Puritan garments were not restricted to black and white materials, Nichol has used a variety of colors including green, blue, and maroon. He has color-keyed the costumes to correspond with the personalities of the characters.

Along with Nichol, other new members being initiated into the Roundtown Players with this production are Virginia Johnson, who is playing the role of Mercy Lewis; Sid Ayers, who is playing the role of Ezekiel Cheever; and Ed Herel, who is in charge of building the set.

Pentagon Papers Trial Judge Blasts Prosecution

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jurors return from a day's recess in the Pentagon papers trial today with a request pending to reopen the defense because the government withheld evidence from the court and the defendants.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Matt Byrne admonished prosecutors angrily on Thursday and sent the jurors home after the government admitted that it had failed to make available to the defense pre-trial interviews with witnesses who have testified at the trial. The judge had ordered this done months ago.

The defense was supposed to be given the material before cross-examining the witnesses—four employees of the Rand Corp., where defendants Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo worked at the time they copied the secret Pentagon study of U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war.

The judge said a summary of one set of statements showed they would be helpful to Ellsberg's and Russo's defense against charges of espionage, conspiracy and theft.

In a separate development while the jury was absent on Thursday, the government asked Byrne to review another set of documents out of the presence of the defense lawyers. The judge refused to accept the material.

"...I cannot receive this information on an in camera basis because I have no authority to do so," said Byrne. But neither the judge nor the government gave a hint of what the documents concerned, except that they did not relate to any previous orders of the court. This ruled out the chance that it was a report on wiretapping.

Byrne said that if the government planned to give the new material to the defense "they should do so promptly."

Test Developed For Measurement Of Marijuana

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston scientist says his team's development of a test to measure minute amounts of marijuana in the blood is a big breakthrough in marijuana research.

Dr. David C. Fenimore's findings were made in rabbits, but the researcher said Thursday he hopes human blood studies can start within six months.

"What we've done could be likened to the blood alcohol test," he said. "Our test should open the door for finding answers to many questions about the effects of marijuana on humans."

Fenimore said his technique paves the way for scientists to measure the exact amount of marijuana in human blood at any given time and correlate that data with heart rates, behavioral patterns and other vital information.

TAILOR-MADE — Chuck Nichol (right), a professional tailor, adjusts Puritan era outfits on Joy Rae and Steve Stevenson. Nichol is costume and make-up chairman for "The Crucible," upcoming production of The Roundtown Players.

Knicks Go After Boston Celtics

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Silas and Dave DeBusschere, two of the best rebounders and defensive forwards in basketball, will resume their private war within a war tonight when the New York Knicks seek to end their National Basketball Association playoff series against the Boston Celtics.

The Knicks lead the Celtics 3-2 in the best-of-7 Eastern Conference finals and a victory in tonight's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) game would move them into the NBA finals against the defending champion Los Angeles Lakers, who beat Golden State 4-1 in the West.

Meanwhile, the American Basketball Association's championship playoff series between the Kentucky Colonels and Indiana Pacers gets under way Saturday in a nationally televised game at Louisville, Ky.

Both those teams finished second during the regular season, but Kentucky defeated Carolina 4-3 for the East Division title and Indiana took Utah 4-2 for the West Division crown.

Silas, the 6-foot-7 veteran who came to the Celtics from Phoenix following last season in exchange for the rights to Charlie Scott, was an unlikely hero in Boston's 98-97 victory in Game No. 5 Wednesday night. He scored just nine points—but they included a 30-foot bank shot that was the Celtics' only basket in the final eight minutes, and two free throws with seven seconds left on the clock which put the Celtics on top for good.

DeBusschere, meanwhile, has done his usual workmanlike job, which has been good enough to earn him All-Star and All-NBA defensive team honors. He's averaging 17.8 points and 9.4 rebounds per game against Boston, and knows he'll have to concentrate on keeping Silas away from the boards.

If the Celtics win, the seventh and deciding game will be played in Boston Sunday afternoon. If not, the Knicks go on to meet Los Angeles—and Boston, the team with the best regular-season record in the NBA, will go home.

CHS Reserves Tie Miami Trace, 4-4

Circleville's reserve baseball team and Miami Trace battled to a 4-4 tie in an eight inning contest, called because of darkness, Thursday at the Panthers field.

Phil Roll was on the hill for the Tigers. He scattered four hits, walked seven and struckout eight.

Mark Mace and Tim McNaughton each had two hits for Circleville while Roll and Randy Thomas each had a double.

The Tigers tallied two runs in the top of the first inning. Trace garnered three tallies in the fifth and added one in the sixth to take a 4-2 lead. Circleville rallied for two markers in the seventh to send the game into extra innings.

The Red and Black will be at Westfall Monday with Robin Ott on the hill.

Red Wings Defeat Cincinnati Swords

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — First period goals by Rick Newell and Ron Simpson gave the Virginia Red Wings a 2-0 victory over the Cincinnati Swords Thursday night and evened their best-of-seven American Hockey League Calder Cup semifinal playoffs at two games apiece.

The fifth game will be played next Tuesday night in Cincinnati.

Women ROTC Students Do Surprisingly Well In Program

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — A campus beauty queen showed up at her first military formation with an ice cream cone. One girl appeared in the Army office wearing a fatigue jacket and short shorts. And three of 45 women students have dropped out of the program completely.

Otherwise, the men in charge of the new women's Army ROTC program at Pennsylvania State University say the five-year test project is off to a smooth start.

"We're finding the girls are setting a high academic trend," said Maj. John Riddiford. He organized Penn State's program which the Army started last fall for freshmen women in 10 campuses.

"All of the scholarship winners had higher Scholastic Aptitude Test scores than any of the men ever had," Riddiford said.

Women at Penn State hold six of 20 new Army ROTC scholarships for coeds. Each is valued at about $11,000.

According to Army spokesmen, the women's ROTC program has several purposes: to determine if it will be expanded to the more than 290 schools now offering ROTC to men, to offer equal military opportunities to women and to catch up with the Air Force and Navy which already have opened their ROTC ranks to women.

The Air Force program, started in 1970, has 1,426 women ranging from freshmen to seniors. "It's been going extremely well," said Maj. John Duemmel, an Air Force spokesman. "The program will continue."

The Navy first began including women in its ROTC program in March 1972, but they could apply only for 16 openings in a scholarship program.

"Next year, 100 women will be eligible to join the non-scholarship program as well," said Lt. Cmdr. Dale Pearson, head of the Navy's college recruiting. "From an interest standpoint, it's been very successful."

So far, 212 women participate in the Army ROTC program nationally. Of these, 42 are at Penn State.

Why do they join?

"It offers an opportunity to be more than an office girl when you graduate," said Martha Lower, 19, of Altoona, Pa. "There seem to be greater opportunities in terms of responsibility."

"I like being the first of a new breed," said Susan Rodems, an 18-year-old liberal arts major from Syracuse, N.Y., and ROTC scholarship winner.

"The starting salary is better for second lieutenants than for school teachers," said a third girl. "And besides, it's a good way to meet men."

Capt. Stephen Linthwaite, the freshmen's 25-year-old instructor, said the women's presence in ROTC has not posed many problems.

"Except for little things," he said, "like deciding the length of uniform hems—a good two inches above the knee is acceptable—and finding shoes that weren't thick rubber-soled clunkers, it's gone pretty smoothly."

"Some of the men were skeptical at first, but now the seniors are wondering why this didn't happen three years ago."

Except for not teaching weapons' handling and flying, the women ROTC curriculum doesn't differ from the men's training.

Coeds are expected to drill with the men, attend summer camp between their junior and senior years and receive commissions as second lieutenants after graduating.

Army regulations stipulate that women cannot participate in flight instruction, airborne training, field combat training and activities "beyond the normal physical strength of women." They are not required to bear arms or participate in marksmanship training.

Most of the women interviewed said they didn't care about the restriction—

"I'm gun-shy" was a common response.

One of the women's chief complaints is that their friends sometimes tease them about joining ROTC.

"The guys you go out with think you're either a nymphomaniac or a lesbian if you want to join the Army," said one indignant woman. "I don't hate men. I have a boy friend."

Besides Penn State, the other schools participating in the program are Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, Ky.; Florida State University, Tallahassee, Fla.; South Carolina State College, Orangeburg, S.C.; Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.; Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, La.; Texas A & I University, Kingsville, Tex.; South Dakota State University, Brookings, S.D.; Arizona State University, Tempe, Ariz.; and University of Hawaii, Honolulu.

Who's Who To Feature Westfall Teen

JOHN DAY

Westfall senior John B. Day was recently notified that he is to be featured in the Seventh Annual Edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students.

John, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Day, Route 1, New Holland, is active in clubwork both in and outside of school and has earned a number of awards, including the Ohio FFA State Farmer Degree.

A past president of Westfall FFA, he took part in national and state FFA competitions. He is advisor, member and junior leader in 4-H, through which he has attended livestock judging contests, 4-H Club Congress, public speaking contests and livestock showmanship contests.

John also belongs to the Westfall Varsity W and French Club, and the Atlanta Methodist Church.

Students who appear in the Who's Who, nominated for their academic, athletic, school or community services, are from public, private and parochial schools throughout the United States. Less than two per cent of the junior and senior students nationwide are awarded this recognition.

John will be eligible for a $1,000 scholarship award, one of ten to be given by the publishers.

The senior has made plans to enter Ohio State University in the fall and study animal science.

The belted kingfisher, a bird common in Canada, is able to plummet more than 50 feet to seize little fish.

Russian School Tour Described

Dr. Harold Eibling, retired head of the Columbus City School System, described his three-week tour of Russian schools at the Thursday Rotary meeting.

Eibling explained that all education is controlled from Moscow and higher education is permitted on a competitive basis. He described the Russian system as being 20 years behind the United States' since there are 69 different languages being spoken throughout their country.

"Depressing" was his feeling for the constant attendance of military personnel while he was on tour in the country he described as "a Godless nation." Most of the old churches have been converted into museums, he noted.

Eibling stressed the importance of knowing and practicing the American way of life. It is his feeling that Americans should be vocal on political issues and, if possible, run for political office.

Three New Teachers Are On South Court Faculty

By KRIS RIED

This week, the Red and Black staff is featuring three new South Court Street Elementary School teachers.

Kathleen Polomik, formerly of Shadyside, earned a BS degree in special education and minored in English at Ohio University. During college, Kathleen was a resident assistant in her dormitory and a member of the Council for Exceptional Children. She now also belongs to OEA.

This is Kathleen's first year of teaching and this year her class is Special Education III. "To present each student with the opportunity to grow mentally, socially and emotionally," was her comment concerning education.

Macrame, reading, bike riding and camping are among Kathleen's hobbies.

Kathy Skala, 151 Lewis Ave., graduated from Ohio University with a BS degree in Elementary and Special Education, and a minor in psychology. She now teaches Special Education II.

become useful adults."

In her spare time, Kathy enjoys playing tennis, sewing, reading and listening to music.

Diane Schubert lives in Columbus, but is formerly from Pennsylvania. She graduated from Baldwin-Wallace College with a BS degree in Elementary Education. Being student senator her junior year, secretary for the Exponent, the college newspaper, and a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority were a few of Diane's activities during college.

Diane has taught school previously. She had a third grade class in Berea, O., and she was a substitute in the Whitehall City Schools. This year she teaches Remedial Reading for grades four, five and six at South Court, Corwin, High and Mound Street Elementary Schools.

Talking about her present job, Diane particularly enjoys the small group sessions and the attention she is able to give to each individual child. She wants her students to take pleasure in what they learn.

Diane can be found cooking, camping, swimming or traveling in her leisure time. Her plans for the future include working on her master's degree.

Roman-Style Banquet Held

On April 16, the CHS Latin Club held its annual Roman Banquet in the Home Ec. room, to help them in their understanding of Roman culture.

Among those attending the gala event were many gods and goddesses such as Neptune, Jupiter, Juno, Pluto, Aurora, Minerva, Venus and Diana. Each one of the diety had a human slave from the junior high.

These servants had to do whatever their masters ordered them to do. Some of the tribulations they had to perform were to taste the food, standing on their heads, dancing and eating foods they disliked the most.

During the dinner the freshmen members of junior high Latin Club presented a mythical play which they created themselves. After the feasting they sang for the "Romans", "Mica, Mica Parva Stella" or more commonly known as "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star."

Cynthia Pike also said the "Pater Noster" or the "Lord's Prayer" and Tom Hamilton gave a benediction.

When asked to comment on the banquet Mrs. Breegle said, "Everyone seemed to enjoy being a Roman for one night."

CHS Band Recording Offered For Sale

The CHS band has cut a record—soon to be Number 1 on the national charts? Not really, but the concert band and stage band have been recorded on a 33 LP stereo record.

On one side the entire band plays "Imperatrix," "Shaft" and "Free." On the flip side the stage band beats out the sounds of "Sweet Georgia Brown," "Proud Mary," "First Thing Monday

MRS. CHARMA HUGHES

Library Secretary Job Varies

"If the students would observe the rules of the library a little more closely and understand that it is a special place for their own use, it would certainly improve the atmosphere of the library," stated Charma Lee Hughes, the librarian's secretary.

Mrs. Hughes resides at 221 E. Union St. with her husband William. She has three children, 22-year-old Mary Beth, who is involved in senior nurses training at Riverside; Bill, 19, who will attend Ohio Northern University this fall; and Darla, a freshman at CJHS.

Mrs. Hughes' duties as the CHS library secretary vary from general office duties to correcting Miss Rose's mistakes, as well as keeping the library quiet.

She feels the majority of the students are "great individuals, intelligent and responsible."

Her smile and friendly personality has brightened the day of many CHS students. To Mrs. Hughes, hats off!!!

Logan Elm Blanks Tiger Ball Team

Circleville was shut out by Logan Elm 3-0 as the Tigers could not come up with the big hit and stranded eight men on base.

Logan Elm was later nipped by Teays Valley 10-7 in the championship game. Teays Valley had earlier downed Zane Trace 3-2 in nine innings.

Greg Hoskins hurled a fine game as he limited the Braves to seven hits and two walks. One bright spot for the Tigers was that they hit the ball well but right at someone. Gary Mogan and John Ankrom led the Tigers with two hits a piece.

With two crucial games coming up with Hillsboro the Tigers must win to stay in contention for the league title.

Morning," "Peace Pipe" and "Hunk-o-Funk."

This album will be available around May 10 in the band room. There is a limited supply—so, first come, first serve.

The Red And Black

TO LEAD THE BAND—Selected to head the Tiger Band in its 1973-74 marching season was this group of nine students. In the front, from the left, are Joni Foster, Kathi Easter, Kathy Bowers and Terri Edwards. Standing at back are Cathy Milburn, Debbie Woodward, Anne Frericks and Elizabeth Schumm, twin field commanders, and Linda Carter, head majorette.

Field Commanders, Majorettes Selected To Lead Tiger Band

By JUNE BRUDZINSKI

At tryouts on April 17, nine girls were chosen on the basis of marching and twirling ability to lead the 1973-74 CHS Tiger band as majorettes.

Twin field commanders Elizabeth Schumm and Ann Frericks will have the duties of commanding the band on the field.

Elizabeth, the daughter of Mrs. Lucy Schumm, 360 E. Union, has had four years of experience, two as head and two as line majorette. "I was really happy to be chosen," said the brunette junior. "It's such a good band, I'm proud to be field commander."

Liz's other activities include GAA, 4-

H and announcing at track meets.

Ann, a sophomore, lives at 573 Willow Lane with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Edward Frericks. She has been a majorette since eighth grade, including a year as drum majorette of the junior high band. Ann "couldn't believe it" when she was chosen. She is active in GAA and FSA.

Linda Carter is the new head majorette and is responsible for making up the routines. She resides at Route 2 with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Carter. The peppy sophomore was "excited and thrilled," and hopes next year's squad is as good as this year's.

She has had three years of majorette experience, and is involved in GAA, EMS, 4-H and Sophomore Class secretary.

First of the six line majorettes is sophomore Kathy Bowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bowers, 443 E. Main. This will be her second year of twirling. Besides band she is active in SOS. "I was very happy about being chosen," stated Kathy.

Junior Terri Edwards, who lives with her mother Mrs. Patty Edwards in Wilson Trailer Court, was "just happy and surprised" at being chosen line majorette. She has been twirling in the band since her freshman year.

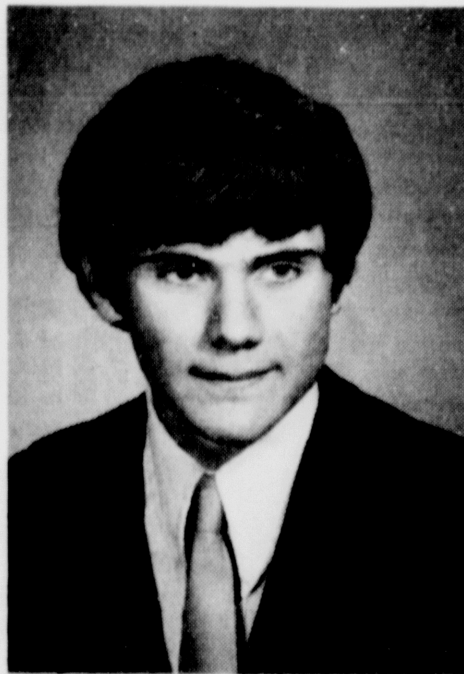

"Very happy" was the reaction of Kathi Easter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Easter, Route 2. This will make her third year as a member of the majorette squad. The petite sophomore lists 4-H as one of her outside activities.

Joni Foster will be the only sophomore on the 1973-74 squad. She lives at 332 Meadow Lane with her parents Mr. and Mrs. George Huskey. The "very happy" freshman is involved in Latin Club, GAA and 4-H. She has had one year of twirling experience.

"Excited" Cathy Milburn has also had one year of majorette experience and, like Jone, is in Latin Club, GAA and 4-H. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Milburn, the blonde sophomore lives at 323 Meadow Lane.

Last but not least is Debbie Woodward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Woodward, 552 Northridge Road. The vivacious sophomore lists her reaction as "happy" and her other activities as SOS. She has been majorette since ninth grade.

DECA Student Holds Position Of Store Clerk

ROBIN WELLER

DECA student of the week is Robin Weller, clerk and stock boy at Revco Drug Store under the employment of Mrs. Evelyn Mennino.

Robin lives at 832 Pershing Drive with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Weller, and his sister Lisa. Working 32 hours during school and 40 hours during the summer has "...taught me the use of the cash register, how to write up orders, how to order stock and meet customers' buying needs," Robin said.

Asked his reaction regarding coming in contact with the public, he replied, "You meet a lot of people in your community and how to talk to them."

His plans for after graduation include going to Canada for the summer and part of the winter, and then going to work in construction for a while.

Arkansas Gal Enjoys Horses, Mexican Food

CONNIE STEPHENS

By TERESA MALLETT

This week's new student is Connie Stephens. She resides at 229 W. Mill St, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Stephens.

Connie comes here from Trumann, Ark., where she was active in Student Senate and Art Club. She is a sophomore and enrolled in the college prep course of study at CHS.

Listed as her likes are riding horses and Mexican food, while school and rainy days are her dislikes. Her hobbies include sewing and any kind of sport.

When asked her opinion of CHS, she replied, "I like it. The people are pretty friendly."

Connie plans to attend college and major in journalism.

Circleville Trackmen Rank Fifth In Relay Competition At Whitehall

The Circleville track team came up with a fine effort and finished fifth in a field of 16 teams at the Whitehall Relays. The Tigers grabbed three seconds, a third, fourth, and fifth place, and they set three new records.

Circleville's two-mile relay team, Doug Radabaugh, Glen Gillespie, Doug Palm and Dave Webb grabbed a second place with a record time of 8:22.2.

The Tigers four-mile relay team of Jeff Robbins, Bill Massie, Matt McGowan and Dick Liston, claimed second with a record time of 18:52.5. Tom Frericks and Stu Moore combined to place second in the discus with combined throws of 285 feet, one and a half inches.

In the shot Bob Rose and Frericks placed third with a combined distance of 98 feet and three-fourths inches.

Reggie Radcliff and Doug Radabaugh were fourth in the pole

Sr. Play Opening Scheduled Tonight

By PAT CURRIE

"Ten minutes to curtain, everybody!"

"Oh no! My makeup's running already!"

"Somebody come zip me up, will 'ya?"

These are typical of the exclamations often heard backstage on the opening night of a play. When the Senior Class of CHS presents "Flowers for Algernon" tonight and tomorrow night at 8 p.m., there will probably be a lot of chaos behind the curtain.

The cast, which has been busy rehearsing for the past six weeks, is still in a flurry of memorizing lines, remembering cues, fixing costumes, and becoming hysterical, as opening night approaches. But, as always, when the curtain finally does go up, everything will fall smoothly into place.

Tickets are on sale at the door and the Senior Class wishes to extend an invitation to everyone to come see this touching play.

Drill Team Chosen Following Tryouts

The 1973-74 CHS drill team was chosen April 25 in the CHS gym. Picked from a field of 60 candidates, the new squad consists of 20 girls who will be sophomores, juniors or seniors at CHS next year.

Before this, the girls attended three practice sessions conducted by Gary Dean, band director, and Diana Huffer, Lynne Easter and Barb Bach, 1972-73 drill team seniors. At these practices, they learned a required routine to Elton John's "Think I'm Gonna Kill Myself" and marching drills.

At try-outs, each girl was judged on their ability to do the routine and drills, kicks, posture, smile and overall appearance.

The new drill team, under the direction of Miss Kathy Nye, will practice all summer and attend camp at Rio Grande College. They will appear with the band next season at all football games, parades and other special functions.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to get at all of the small chores that take time, that bring little joy, but that have to be done before you are able to go forward to the soon-to-be-big opportunities. However, the best aspects are for handling activities or interests having to do with art, music, painting, sculpture, etc.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get at all those small accumulated chores that have to be done sometime and get them behind you quickly. Schedule fun for evening. Make sure you help one who has been a good friend in the past.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Much work is needed on that personal plan you have if you want to be a success. Look into that plan a pal has that can prove to be very good. Labor late into the evening, if necessary.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you put real effort into it, you find you gain the information you need just at this time. If you bolster the ego of a higher-up who needs loyalty right now, you get fine benefits later. Try to retire early in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get the information you need so you can push a plan through in a most efficient way. Do what persons of wisdom suggest and forget all that emotionalism. Do not act on impulse.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Attempt to get all of your obligations met to the best of your ability. Some particular kindness to mate can bring fine results. Try to make your life easier in some way so you can enjoy it more.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get busy doing whatever will please those who are vital to your welfare; insure your position for the future. Do work on that important civic affair that crops up. A nice person you know can do you a big favor.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Add the bric-a-brac, furniture, or whatever will make your surroundings far more attractive and comfortable. Take the health treatments you feel will make you more dynamic. Show more spunk at home.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can handle recreational affairs very wisely now after you get your regular work done. Buy a nice present for one who is in real trouble, not feeling well, and bring cheer.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find out what is wrong at home and right it, even if you have to forego some pleasure. Plan to have a sturdier foundation for the future. The evening is best spent at home with family. Have fun.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get that problem solved nicely during the day that has been difficult to do before. Make your home more attractive and scrupulously clean. The evening is fine for enjoying hobbies with friends.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Put your energy into improving your property and making it more valuable now. Find some way to add to present income. Make sure some person is not working against you while you think just the opposite.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Do some remodeling today that could make you happier. Evening is then fine for entertaining or going out with friends. You can be happier than you have been for a long time. Avoid one who is boring.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people with much sensitivity who should be encouraged to get out of that subjective mood and to solve problems objectively. Ideal chart for professions that require precision and handling of details. Make sure to compliment for any particularly fine work that is done to strengthen your child's ego. Give the sports that build up the physique and develop courage to meet life's problems wisely. Send to right schools.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

'Coachie' Enjoys Her Job As Golf Mentor

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)— Olen-tangy High School golfers af-fectionately call Sue Heisler "Coachie."

The first woman to coach the boys' sport for an Ohio school took the job as a lark. Now it's a serious business for her.

"It started as a joke. Our regular golf coach resigned after school started in the fall. I knew I would take a razzing from the students," she said.

Now Miss Heisler, an Ohio

University coed at this time last year, sounds like her male coaching rivals. "They are a young team, a team of the future," said Miss Heisler, 23, a native of Ravenna who comes from an athletic family.

Her brother Yank, an Akron banker, was twice Ohio high school golf champion. Her dad Bob, president of a Ravenna iron firm, is in the Ohio Wesleyan University Hall of Fame.

"What's really sad is that I have five younger sisters and none of them plays golf. It just kills me," said Miss Heisler, her hazel eyes snapping.

Despite her status, Miss Heisler is not a women's libber. In fact, an Ohio High School Athletic Association rule prohibiting girls from boys' sports draws her support.

"I think that's the way it should be, boys against boys and girls against girls," said the woman, who has played golf since she was 9.

"I shoot in the mid-80s when I'm playing regularly," said Miss Heisler, who played three seasons with the Ohio University women's team.

She said rival male golf coaches have shown no animosity toward her. "They've been very pleasant," she said. "They open doors and buy coffee for me."

Miss Heisler doubles as the Delaware County school's junior high school cheerleader adviser. She said there's no comparison between coaching boys and girls.

"The boys are easier to coach. You only have to tell them once. They listen to you," she said before an afternoon of spotting flaws in her golfers' grips and swings.

Injury Puts Lee Trevino Out Of Bout

DALLAS (AP) — Lee Trevino, who says he is "sick and tired of flinching every time I swing at the ball," will have to wait at least another week to become a golfing millionaire because of an injury suffered while fishing for bass.

Trevino, about $14,000 short of joining Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper in the $1-million category, shot himself out of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic Thursday with a nine-over-par 79 which included a fat 45 on the back side.

Don Bies of Seattle, whose greatest accomplishment was beating Arnold Palmer head-on in a match play tournament, battled wind and cold to take the first-round lead with a five-under-par 65.

"The pain killed me when I swung at the ball on the back nine," Trevino said. "I shot 45 and I can't ever remember shooting 45 before—not even when I was eight years old."

Trevino said he injured the shoulder six weeks ago. A doctor diagnosed his problem as a pulled muscle. But

'Plowboy' Seeks To Regain Touch

CINCINNATI (AP) — Clay Carroll used to plow the garden behind his parents' Alabama home, a fact some fans won't let him forget.

"That's the only plowing I ever did, it honestly is," says the swaggering, barrel-chested Cincinnati Reds relief pitcher, who's off to a miserable start this season after taking "fireman of the year" honors in 1972.

Top Horses Prep For Derby Day

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The older horses run for the money Saturday at the nation's major race tracks, while the younger ones run for gold and glory and a chance at America's greatest prize in thoroughbred racing.

There are $50,000 prizes at four race tracks across the country Saturday, but the interest lies in a $10,000 allowance race at Churchill Downs where eight horses probably will make their last prep before next week's Kentucky Derby, the premier classic in American thoroughbred racing.

The Stepping Stone Purse, with such stars as Shecky Green, Restless Jett and Carl Counti, comes on the heels of Thursday's Bluegrass Stakes at nearby Keeneland where My Gallant surprised a field of nine with a narrow victory and almost a certain berth in the $125,000 Derby at Churchill Downs next weekend.

In fact, it is more than likely that at least six of the nine Bluegrass finishers will challenge the 4-5 Derby favorite, Secretariat, in the 1 1/4-mile race that has become the most famous two minutes in the world of sports.

My Gallant, held off the pace by jockey Angel Cordero Jr., ran through the middle of a cavalry charge with half a furlong left and won the Bluegrass by a head over Our native, the winner earlier of the Flamingo Stakes in Florida.

North-South Leaders Same As Last Year

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)— Television has its instant replay. Golf has a delayed version.

The 71st North and South Amateur Tournament for women was down to the 18-hole finals today with Jane Booth of Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., meeting Curtis Cup teammate Beth Barry of Mobile, Ala., her 2 and 1 victim in last year's title match.

It marked the first time in 32 years that finalists repeated in consecutive years.

Trevino wasn't satisfied and sought another doctor for an X ray after Thursday's round.

"I don't know how it can be a muscle when it hurts all the way to my rib cage," Trevino said. "It tightened up on me when the rain and cold hit. I don't hook the ball...I fade it."

Carroll was irritated after a game in Atlanta late last season, a leather-lunged fan having greeted his mound appearance with a raucous, "Hey, plowboy!"

Later, during the National League playoffs with Pittsburgh, the same voice intoned the same message at Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium.

"I guess he must have been following me around," laughs Carroll, a good natured, gentle 202-pounder whose late-inning heroics netted him a major league record 37 saves last season.

The heckler hasn't shown his face, or voice, this season, but neither has Carroll's pitching touch.

In six appearances totaling two and two-thirds innings, Carroll has allowed seven hits, six earned runs and four walks. His earned run average is a lofty 18.00, compared to the 2.25 ERA he posted last year.

"I know I haven't been doing the job," Carroll said. "everyone can see that. But, you know, the last couple years I started slow, and I really came back later. I'll be back, you can be sure of that."

Carroll's positive attitude is a product of his days in the minor leagues in towns like Quad City, Boise and Austin.

"I remember down there I'd lose one, and I'd hang my head down," he recalls. "I'd look at the other guys and wonder what they were thinking. You

Chester Boy Wins Lebanon Feature

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Chester Boy, winless in 11 previous starts, triumphed by a length Thursday night in the $1,000 feature race at Lebanon Raceway.

The winner paid $18.20, $9.40 and $5.20. Angel Crystal was second at $6.80 and $5.20. Limber Legs showed at $3.60.

Tonight's $2,250 feature race is an invitational trot, with Fashion Dream favored.

just can't do that."

Carroll, 31, a fast ball specialist who came here from Atlanta in 1968, took advantage of an off-day Thursday to throw hard for 20 minutes along with Tom Hall, another Cincinnati reliever who's having early season troubles.

Carroll said the session helped. "I threw all my pitches," he drawled, "and I feel much better. I think I've got things worked out now. I just need some work.

"That's the thing I like about relief pitching," he mused. "When you don't do well, you've always got a chance the next day. You can come right back."

The next day for Carroll could be tonight. The Reds host Philadelphia in the opener of a three-game series.

Cincinnati's Ross Grimsley, 3-0, will oppose Philadelphia ace Steve Carlton, 3-2, in a battle of lefthanders.

On Books And Activities At The Library

Do you suffer from shyness? Do you have whooping cough, asthma, throat or lung problems? How about nightmares? Or maybe you have trouble dropping off to sleep? Try growing a little thyme. It is reported that thyme and beer soup will cure shyness. Tea brewed from thyme leaves has medicinal benefits for those suffering from sundry lung problems. A cup of the brew is said to forestall nightmares. For a peaceful night's sleep, a herbal pillow containing thyme is purported to send the weary sufferer to the land of Nod. The user is cautioned to exercise restraint whether in the garden or the salad, for this unshy herb can take over either with its pungent, minty flavor.

You can read about this and other interesting facts about natural foods in "The Health Food Dictionary with Recipes" by Antisce Carroll and Ebre de Persis Vona. If you are a health food fanatic, this book is NOT for you. The authors state that their purpose is to help shoppers confused by the array of "organic" foods on the shelves of the health food store. They point out that "organic" is a loose term. It may mean only that some unscrupulous vendor chased an organic chicken through his kitchen while the water was boiling. The liquid may then be called "The Organic Essence of Chicken Broth" with no challenge from federal authorities. Happy reading and cooking for those who would like to eat healthfully, but quail at the thought of brewer's yeast, black strap molasses, and raw milk.

New for gardeners is "Helen Van Pelt Wilson's Own Garden and Landscape Book." Mrs. Wilson gives tips for making compost, planting for year round pleasure, and attracting birds to your garden. The book includes charts detailing color, height, and blooming season for various perennials and bulbs.

"Homes Repairs Any Woman Can Do" by Tom Philbin is a "how-to" manual for unplugging plumbing, repairing furniture, doors windows, and other miscellaneous problems. For the woman's "libber" or the wife whose husband would rather go fishing.

For the husband who would rather go fishing, there are two new books about his favorite sport. "Fly Fishing the Lakes" by Rex Gerlach tells about lake fishing—where and how to catch sport fish. Chapters discuss tackle and techniques of casting. The book contains clear directions for fishing streamer flies, nymphs and dry flies. There are chapters on techniques of hooking and landing fish, boating safety and fishing guides.

Tom McNally's "Fisherman's Bible" 2nd. Edition discusses bass, pike, trout marlin, sailfish, grayling, coho salmon, muskies, etc. For the statistic minded, there are world and state-by-state angling records. Other articles feature boats, tackle, lures, fly tying, and custom rod building.

With vacation time rapidly approaching, "Seacoast Maine: people and Places" by Maurice Dibley may help solve the question of where to go. Maurice Dibley, a long time resident of Maine is the author of many books such as "Sleeping Giant," "The Trouble With Heroes," and "The Admiral." Illustrated with interesting black and white photographic studies of people and places by George A. Tice.

Those who must give thier attention the workaday world may be interested in "Computer Programming: Techniques, Analysis, and Mathematics" by Richard V. Andree and others. This volume is designed to teach efficient programming techniques, rather than simple Fortran coding. The authors stress the basic structure of problem solving—which includes the use of mathematics. They provide interesting problems to motivate readers to learn the necessary computer related mathematics.

Hammond Innes has a new novel "The Golden Soak" which has its setting in the mining country of Australia. The adventures of a soldier of fortune lead him to an abandoned gold mine, a courageous girl, and a legendary lost copper mine.

"People Will Always be Kind" is the story of Brian Casey, a victim of polio in pre-vaccine days. In learning to come to terms with himself, he becomes adept at manipulating people and later runs for political office.

"Laughing All the Way" by Barbara Howar is an outspoken, witty and very personal comment on Washington society by a socialite who has known the Kennedys and entertained Henry Kissinger.

"My Life in the Mafia" by Vincent Teresa is the memoir of third-generation Mafioso Vincent Teresa. A high official, he turned informer after the mob cheated him and made attempts on his family's lives. Here are the names and histories of Mafia action.

Mrs. Wilbur Wickum Speaker At Pickaway MHA Meeting

Guest speaker for the April meeting of the Pickaway County Mental Health Assn. was Mrs. Wilbur Wickum of Delaware.

Mrs. Wickum elaborated on two care groups for which she serves as chairman, the Delaware County Mental Health Assn. and Volunteer Service Council at Columbus State Hospital. She announced that Mrs. Lowell Towland, volunteer service representative of the local association was now second vice president of the Volunteer Service Council of Columbus State Hospital.

Mrs. Clarence Willoughby, president of the local association gave highlights on Governor John J. Gilligan's proclamation of May as Mental Health Month. The proclamation urges all citizens to lend active support and encouragement.

She also reported Marion Wells, executive director of the Ohio Mental Health Assn. has announced the selection of Frankie Laine as honorary chairman for 1973. Laine will kick off a month-long membership drive during his singing engagement at Scot's Inn, Columbus, April 30th through May 5. It was announced by Lemar J. Clevenger, administrator of Pickaway County Program for Mental Retardation of plans of Ohio Developmental Disabilities Inc. to organize a group to further explore need for residential services in the five-county area of Pickaway, Franklin, Union, Madison and Fayette.

There were discussions of Senate Bill 194, designed to give responsibility for all community services to county board of mental retardation and developmental disabilities; Outreach for Youth, a Columbus area project; humanization, the key objective in all current outreaches to benefit those with mental adversities.

Raymond Konkright, chaplain, volunteer service chairman and public relations director at Orient State Institute, told of the many projects of activity therapy regularly exercised at Orient.

A decision was made to transfer custody of the association's "The Story of Joe" to Bill Dountz, community relations officer for the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Mrs. M. A. Yates, the treasurer, reported all budgeted amounts had been used as arranged through Community Fund. Mrs. Toland, vice president, told of arrangements for the annual dinner session May 21 at the L-K Restaurant.

Mrs. Wickum extended an invitation to the Delaware County meeting May 15.

Antipollution Order Issued

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency has ordered seven Ohio firms to submit — within 30 days — acceptable plans and schedules for cleaning up air pollution at 12 coke oven facilities.

The EPA said that unless the seven firms submit the schedules, variances from the air pollution code won't be granted.

Receiving the notices were: —Republic Steel Corp.'s Cleveland, Massillon, Warren and Youngstown plants.

—Allied Chemical Corp.'s Semet-Solvay division in Ironton.

—Armco Steel Corp.'s Hamilton and Middletown plants.

—Detroit Steel Corp.'s Portsmouth plant.

—Diamond Shamrock Corp.'s Painesville plant.

—U.S. Steel Corp.'s Lorain works.

—Youngstown Sheet & Tube's Brier Hill and Campbell plants.

Betz Attends State IOOF Conference

Paul Betz, a Past Grand of Columbia Lodge No. 32 represented District No. 59 at the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of Ohio, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which concluded its three day session in Columbus Wednesday.

Betz served on the Inter Branch Relations Committee of the Grand Lodge during the sessions.

Wilbur G. Stanford, Toledo, was installed as Grand Master of the Grand Lodge in a joint ceremony with the Rebekah Assembly, which seated Mrs. Clarice Forsch as its president. They succeeded Robert G. Graf of Conneaut and Mrs. Helen Conner of Wilmington in these posts.

The Grand Lodge operates a home for the aged at Springfield for which it adopted a budget as well as one for its own operation.

Reports on the operation of the home for the aging, the results of the IOOF bowling and golf tournaments, 1972 Lake States Odd Fellows Conference, the new Ohio Historical Lodge No. 1, operation of its 290 acre farm and other projects were discussed by the Grand Lodge.

Hawaiian Quake Hurts 8 Persons; Damage Moderate

HILLO, Hawaii (AP) — An earthquake which shook the Hawaiian island chain did moderate damage to structures in Hilo, the state's second largest city. Police said eight persons were injured, but no deaths were reported.

The tremor struck Thursday with its epicenter located a dozen miles north of Hilo—a sea coast town of 26,000 persons—at a depth of about 25 miles, said Bob Shanks, chief of the state civil defense agency in Honolulu.

"Had it been under Hilo, there would have been greater damage, and probably some loss of life," Shanks said.

Scientists at the U.S. Geological Survey at Volcanoes National Park said the temblor registered 6.0 on the Richter scale of earthquake intensity. It lasted a total of 15 minutes, beginning at 10:26 a.m.
